

Administration Needs Democratic Congress, Stevenson Declares

By JOHN BAUSMAN
GREAT NECK, N.Y. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson says President Eisenhower "needs a Democratic Congress to stop the giveaway and restore respect of the United States throughout the world."

Nearing the end of a campaign swing through the New York area, Stevenson Friday night told a Democratic rally in Nassau County:

"The President has said he needs a Republican Congress to do what he couldn't do with a Republican Congress. We Democrats say he needs a Democratic Congress to stop the giveaway and restore the respect of the United States throughout the world."

Doesn't Like Tactics

Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President in 1952, criticized the Republicans for what he termed a nationwide campaign of smears and abuses. He named Vice President Nixon as the leader.

Stevenson said that a Democratic Congress is needed "most of all... to repudiate the character of the campaign that has been conducted by our opponents all over the United States."

Stevenson said he is distressed that President Eisenhower has not repudiated Republican tactics. To the contrary, he said, "this afternoon, speaking in Cleveland, the President had recourse to the same technique."

Eisenhower said in Cleveland that when the Republicans took of-

Chain Telephone Calls Suggested For GOP Voters

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Eisenhower, happy over his get-out-the-vote tour of four states, was reported today to try personally to set off a nationwide "telephone your neighbors" campaign to win votes for Republican congressional candidates.

A Republican official said that starting at 10:35 a.m. CST Eisenhower will start telephoning 10 "plain ordinary" persons around the country.

The President will ask each to vote and to phone the same request to 10 others, he said, to touch off a "pyramid system" aimed at reaching every citizen who might go to the polls next Tuesday.

Idea Tried Out

The GOP informant declined the use of his name. He was not a member of the President's staff, but it was known the idea of chain phone calls in a drive to turn out a big pro-GOP vote was getting serious study at the White House.

Eisenhower tried out the idea on an audience at Wilmington, Del., Friday night at the conclusion of his swift aerial tour into Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Delaware.

He said in advance of the 1,400-mile trip that he was making it to try to dispel what he termed puzzling voter apathy. But he told a police-estimated crowd of 4,000 at the Wilmington Airport that he had been pleasantly surprised—that instead of apathy all along the way he had "encountered enthusiasm, belief and confidence" that the Republicans will win continued control of Congress.

Would Reach Millions

"If everybody votes, we're in," Eisenhower declared, touching off a round of cheers.

Then, dealing with the more practical problem of persuading citizens to go to the polls, the President said:

"You know, if everybody in this audience would go home this evening and start calling up—would call up 10 voters and ask them to call 10 voters, you cover the state of Delaware with every man, woman and child in it in about two hours."

"You would reach millions in that time. That is what we want."

Presidential associates said later the chief executive had made no idle, spur-of-the-moment suggestion.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat said in a Washington dispatch that, in addition to 10 calls by Eisenhower today, party leaders expect the 29 Republican governors will start a similar telephone campaign in their states.

U.N. Commission Sets Up 5-Power Arms Limit Talks

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Disarmament Commission began today the task of setting up five-power arms talks. There was mounting speculation over who will represent the United States in the ticklish negotiations aimed at controlling atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The war was cleared for the talks earlier this week when the 60-Nation Political Committee gave the plan unanimous approval. In a rare accord, the resolution was sponsored by Russia and four Western nations. Assembly approval was seen as a virtual certainty sometime next week.

Difficulties Appear

The sponsors of the resolution—Britain, France, Russia, the United States and Canada—already have run into difficulty in arranging the talks. The United States is reported flatly opposed to French efforts to get the parley going now.

The State Department is said to have no one immediately available who is qualified to discuss the complex disarmament question. Reliable sources said, however, Morehead Patterson, New York industrialist who represented the United States at previous disarmament talks in London last spring, might be available if the parley is held over until the first of the year.

The sources said Patterson is still deeply interested in the arms issue and would like to carry on the task. With the background he absorbed in the London negotiations, the sources added, Patterson would be an outstanding choice to represent the United States in the pending talks.

Carnegie Medals Awarded Two Fliers In Escanaba Ice Rescue

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Two Michigan Upper Peninsula businessmen—fliers—were awarded bronze medals for heroism today by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission. Between them they saved six from drowning on Jan. 24, 1953.

The two are Wilbert H. DeGrave, 36, a timber jobber of Rapid River and Jon G. Thorin, an insurance salesman of Escanaba.

Trapped On Loose Floe

The men they saved were trapped on an ice floe off Stonington, Mich.; when the ice broke up on Little Bay de Noc while they were fishing a year ago last January.

Rescued by DeGrave were Edward P. Carlson, 55; Joseph E. Guay, 53, and Arvid A. Isaacson, 47. Saved by Thorin were Robert R. Schaefer, 24; Robert W. Miller, 24, and Clement J. Rivard, 52.

Citations of DeGrave and Thorin said in part:

"Ice broke up over the entire surface of Little Bay de Noc while Carlson, Guay, Isaacson, Schaefer, Miller and Rivard were fishing two miles from shore; and they were stranded on an ice floe three-quarters of a mile long and a half a mile wide which drifted to open water in Green Bay."

Drift Two Miles

"DeGrave and Thorin were informed of the situation; and each took off in a light, single-engine airplane from an airport a mile away. DeGrave piloted the plane a mile and a quarter to the floe, the edges of which were disintegrating under the force of waves two feet high moving with a strong wind."

"DeGrave landed 150 feet from the group and called that he could remove only one man at a time, warning the others to stay back. Carlson reached the airplane and climbed aboard. DeGrave flew Carlson to a narrow strip of smooth ice 600 feet long at the east side of the mouth of the bay."

"DeGrave returned to the ice floe and removed Guay. Shortly afterward Thorin reached the ice floe in his airplane, which would carry two passengers. Thorin called for two men, and Schaefer and Miller ran to the airplane."

"Men on the strip ran along the ice supporting the wing tips of Thorin's plane until it became airborne. Thorin again flew to the ice floe, which had drifted nearly two miles from shore, and picked up the others."

"The stranded men were treated for exposure and recovered."

William J. Cyrus, 15, of Dearborn, was killed Friday night when his car crashed through a guard rail on the Willow Run Expressway, plunged down a 35-foot embankment and rolled over his body which had been thrown from the car.

Roy Brown, 60, of Mt. Pleasant, suffered fatal burns last night when his 10,000-gallon tanker truck burst into flames after colliding with an automobile on M20, east of Mt. Pleasant. Brown was trapped in the truck.

Grand Rapids Boy Fugitives Captured After 2-Day Looting

ALLEGAN (AP)—Three young boys who fled a Grand Rapids detention home Wednesday night leaving a trail of pillage and destruction from Kent to Allegan County were back in custody today.

The boys—two 11 and a 14-year-old leader—were captured Friday trudging along a rural road 10 miles north of Allegan, bound, they said, for Tennessee.

Allegan County Sheriff Walter Runkell estimated their rampage cost $2,000.

Runkell said the boys readily admitted breaking into a Grand Rapids garage after fleeing the home, stealing a truck for their trip, breaking into five gasoline stations, stealing rifles and clothing from a Grand Rapids sporting goods store and ransacking two houses in Allegan County.

The youngsters hungrily ate macaroni and soup provided by Runkell's wife as the eldest recounted the story of their escape and flight.

He said he had been in the home only one day when older boys began hazing him. They did such things, he said, as shove his head into a toilet and flush it.

"They hit me," he said, "while I was waiting for dinner. I guess it was part of the initiation. The people in charge had tried to put a stop to it but they never caught the ones who were doing it."

The boy said he told the two 11-year-olds of his trouble and the three plotted to escape.

They used a piece of iron from a bed to break a window lock on a top floor room. They climbed out the window and started their two days of looting.

Budget Sets Record

DETROIT (AP)—The Wayne County Board of Supervisors Friday approved a record budget of $61,553,302 for the 1954-55 fiscal year beginning Dec. 1.

British Wharf Workers Vote To End Strike

LONDON (AP)—British dock workers voted today to end their 27-day strike and return to work Monday.

The walkout of 43,000 dockers crippled Britain's major ports and struck a heavy blow to her foreign trade, the lifeblood of this island nation.

The back to work vote was taken at a nationwide series of mass meetings called by the strike leaders.

The men agreed to go back on condition that the question of compulsory overtime be submitted to further negotiations and that men who refuse to work overtime until the issue is finally settled will not be disciplined.

The walkout started in the Port of London to support demands that overtime be on a voluntary rather than compulsory basis. Management maintains that the dependence of ship arrivals and departures on the tides makes compulsory overtime a necessity.

Pontiac Man Admits Embezzling $50,000

PONTIAC (AP)—Eugene Parmenter, Pontiac investment salesman, pleaded guilty in Circuit Court Friday to embezzlement of $50,000 from a former employer. Sentencing was set for Nov. 8. Parmenter disappeared in August of 1953 as auditors were examining the books of the W. H. Protiva Co. He left a note indicating he planned to drown himself in Lake Michigan. Parmenter, however, was arrested in Oklahoma City last week.

Party Leaders Split On Issue Of 'Red Smear'

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—A frontal attack by the Democratic high command on President Eisenhower appeared today to represent a last-minute switch in campaign tactics over the protests of some party members.

National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell put an official stamp on the new tactic Friday by accusing Eisenhower of joining in what Mitchell called a "Red smear" of Democratic candidates for Congress.

Advice Overruled

While there was no public complaint from party members, it was learned authoritatively that Mitchell had overruled some Democratic leaders who cautioned against attacks on Eisenhower despite the President's own burst of campaigning just before Tuesday's voting deadline.

Keep Campaign Hot, President Tells Leonard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A word from his chief sent Donald S. Leonard, Republican nominee for governor, hurrying back to his campaign in Oakland County Friday.

Leonard had cancelled his campaign appointments to be with President Eisenhower during his Detroit appearance. He met Mr. Eisenhower at the airport and motored with him for the city hall address.

After the speech Leonard joined the President for the return trip to the airport. On the way they talked of Leonard's campaign. Leonard mentioned he had missed some campaign appearances because of the Presidential visit.

Shot In The Arm

"Then you should get on with your campaign as soon as possible," the President said.

"OK," said Leonard, "stop the car."

The President did and Leonard hopped out at Grand River and Twelfth. While the President continued to the airport, Leonard called for a car from his campaign headquarters and left for Pontiac.

After basking in the President's aura Leonard spoke with fresh optimism and confidence.

"The Republicans will win a resounding victory next Tuesday," he told supporters. "We are doing all right but the President's appearance has given the Republican campaign a shot in the arm."

Leonard told his audiences of the chat he had with the President. Leonard said "the President thinks we have been doing a whale of a job and he told me he feels I will defeat Governor Williams."

That, however, wasn't what a

Killer Of Chicago Policeman Slain As He Walks Into Trap

CHICAGO (AP)—A fugitive killer of a policeman was shot to death by detectives Friday night after he walked into a trap set by a woman friend and police.

Agostino (Gus) Amedeo, 26-year-old ex-convict, object of an intensive manhunt since he killed a detective Oct. 21, was felled by a dozen bullets as he walked along a busy North Side street.

Amedeo was heading for an automobile the woman had driven to the intersection. The woman, Mrs. Dorothy Del Genio, about 27, had told police of the date with Amedeo. He had appealed to her for help—for an auto to aid him in flight from Chicago.

Woman Helps Police

Mrs. Del Genio, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Dolores Del Genio Marcus, a sweetheart of the killer, agreed to bring him the car, then told police she would help to trap him.

The first meeting had been arranged for Thursday night but Amedeo failed to appear. Nearly a score of detectives had been posted at the place of the expected meeting near Wrigley Field. They had orders to "shoot to kill" Amedeo on sight after he had fatally shot Detective Charles Am-

Winter weather descended on Michigan Friday night and today, bringing snow flurries and sub-freezing temperatures to large sections of the state.

Four inches of snow blanketed the Houghton area in the Upper Peninsula, where the heaviest snowfall was reported. The mercury dipped to 24 degrees during the night, the lowest reading in the state.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Detroit said some other cities in the Upper Peninsula reported snowfalls of an inch or less.

Snow and near-freezing temperatures also blew into Lower Michigan and played havoc with high school football games last night. Cheerleaders at a game in Grand Rapids amused themselves by tossing snowballs between cheers.

Battle Creek reported an inch of snow by 2 a.m. today and there was nearly that much in the Muskegon area. Raw weather and snow flurries also were reported in Lansing.

Snow flurries hit other widely scattered areas, but much of it melted before it hit the ground.

Three Arrested In Escanaba; Charge Is Deer Law Violation

Three men were arrested in Escanaba at 12:45 a. m. today by Conservation officer Chester Van Wieren, who has signed complaints charging the three with making use of an artificial light in an attempt to hunt and kill deer near Pine Ridge on US-2-41.

Scheduled for arraignment Monday on the charge in Justice Henry Ranguette's court are:

Richard Jungles, 38, of Escanaba Rte. 1; Earl Flath, 1710 Ludington St.; and Clarence Kasten, Escanaba Rte. 1.

MORE—

Escanaba police, who were present at the arrest of the men at 9th St. and 2nd Ave. S., reported a search of their car revealed two rifles, a headlighting unit and ammunition.

Jungles was charged with reckless driving in connection with the chase in Escanaba prior to his arrest. He pleaded guilty in Justice Ranguette's court today and sentence was delayed until his appearance Monday on the game law count.

Noted Theologian Will Speak Here Sunday Night

The Ecumenical Movement, or the worldwide effort to unite churches of the Protestant and Orthodox Communions, will be explained by Dr. Walter M. Horton, eminent theologian, at the annual Reformation Day rally at the Bethany Lutheran Church, Escanaba, tomorrow evening.

The service marking the 437th anniversary of Martin Luther's nailing of the 95 theses on the door of Castle Church, Wittenberg, Germany, will begin at 8 and will be highlighted by participation of a massed choir and by members of the Delta County Ministerial Association.

Luther, a professor in theology at the University of Wittenberg, Germany, made his famous protest on Oct. 31, 1517. The incident led to the development of the Protestant Reformation and division of the church into many sects the past four centuries.

Theological Consultant

Within the last 50 years, it was pointed out, a counter movement has been underway to achieve greater unity among Orthodox and Protestant churches. It led to the organization in 1948 of the World Council of Churches, the second assembly of which was held last August in Evanston, Ill.

Harnischfeger Corporation contributed $700, and the Escanaba Paper Company donated $500 to the Delta County Community Chest. Fontaine reported this morning.

Theology, Oberlin, Ohio, served as a theological consultant at the Evanston meeting of representatives of 161 church bodies from 48 countries of the world, it was reported.

"Dr. Horton is by training and temperament able to fuse the best traditions and insights of the various church bodies into vigorous and meaningful language," local leaders say. "His address here Sunday evening on 'Aliens and Exiles; The Pilgrim People of God' will be well worth hearing."

The ceremony will begin with a processional hymn, "I Greet Thee, Who My Sure Savior Art," by John Calvin. A massed choir from the churches of the county will march in the processional behind the crucifer and flag bearers. The clergy of the county will follow in the procession.

Program Listed

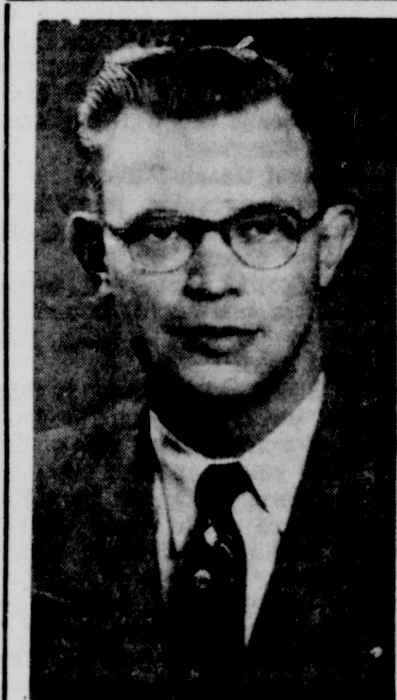

Invocation will be given by the Rev. James Bell of the First Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. Johannes Ringstad of Immanuel Lutheran Church will lead in the prayer of Thanksgiving and the Lord's Prayer.

The lesson will be read from Romans 8 by the Rev. Albert Bourne of the Mission Covenant Church, Gladstone; and the Rev. Fred Knecht of the Free Methodist Church, Gladstone, will give the general prayer.

Mrs. Alice Hartbarger will direct the choir in the offertory anthem "Jesus, Joy of My Endeavor" by Bach, and the choir will also provide choral answers to the prayer and benediction.

Rev. Clifford Peterson of the First Lutheran Church, Gladstone, will pronounce the offertory sentences. The sermon hymn, "O Word of God Incarnate" by Bishop How will be followed by announcements.

Halloween Costume Party Is Held At Escanaba High

Last evening, the Halloween costume ball was held at the Escanaba Senior High School from 8 to 12 o'clock in the decorated gymnasium. Student council members sponsored the dance with music by Ivan Kobasic's Orchestra.

Costume awards presented were: Noella Chevalier, duck, first prize; Janice McFadden, pumpkin, second prize; Catherine Harrison, finger, third prize; Tom O'Brien, Indian, fourth prize, and honorable mention, Kenny Nelson, skeleton.

Awards for doubles were given Jackie Roach and Sharon Schils, TV set, first prize; Barbara Trams and Nancy Kuebler, Christmas tree and package, second prize, and honorable mention, Kay, Christensen and Joan Froberg, rabbit and lettuce.

Judges were Mrs. Ulrich, high school secretary, and two faculty members, Miss Ley and Mrs. Cummins.

Program emcee was John LeMire. Two solos, "You Made Me Love You" and "Chatanoga Choo-Choo" were sung by Maurine Marsden, while Maxine Flath sang "Hey There" and the "Penny Song" from Captain Hal's TV show. A comedy act, "Harry and Larry", was presented by Freddie Sensiba and Sandy Williams, and Gerry Reno demonstrated a new dance, the soupy shuffle.

Drama Series Opens Tuesday

"The Four Poster," the first of three plays in the Civic Drama Guild series sponsored in Escanaba by the Escanaba Lions Club, will be presented Tuesday evening, Nov. 2 at the William Oliver auditorium at 8:15.

Other plays in the series are "Stalag 17" to be presented Nov. 30 and "The Velvet Glove" to be presented March 1.

Tickets for the series are on sale now. Persons who desire to purchase tickets for the first play only may do so and later they can purchase tickets for the remaining two plays by paying the second half of the season ticket price.

"The Four Poster" was a smash success on Broadway with the famed husband and wife team, Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy. The play ran in New York from October 1951 to May 1953 after which a coast to coast tour was booked.

In the Civic Drama Guild production the two roles are played by Jean Carlton and Herbert Voland who are man and wife in private life. Both are well known to Civic Drama Guild fans, having played here in past series.

The play is the saga of a conventional happy marriage over the course of 35 years. The play later became a film success.

As in all Civic Drama Guild productions, the casts of all three plays are professionals and the staging, lighting and general production are handled by professionals.

Prof. Horton Will Speak Here Sunday At St. Stephen's

Prof. Walter Marshall Horton of Oberlin Graduate School of Theology, Oberlin, Ohio, will be guest speaker at the 10:45 a. m. service of morning prayer at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

His topic will be "On Having a Purpose," based on the text of Matt. 6:33. The choir will sing the anthem, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

Rev. Joseph S. Dickson, rector of the parish, will lead the service and tell the children's story for the Church School. Classes meet first for the worship service, then for study during the sermon period. A coffee hour meeting after church is held for parishioners and visitors.

The Holy Communion will be observed at 7:30 a. m. on All Saints Day, Monday, Nov. 1. Members of the parish are urged to attend.

Michigan Bell Plans Microwave Installation

For the first time the Michigan Bell Telephone Company will utilize radio instead of poles and wire for transmission of long distance telephone calls.

Designed to expand and improve long distance facilities in the Upper Peninsula, the new method will include microwave radio relay towers at nine Northern Michigan points.

Michigan Bell officials explained the nine towers are not one integrated network but make up three separate systems to serve different areas.

Construction of the towers has been completed and efforts are now being directed toward installation and alignment of the intricate transmission equipment in new buildings on tower sights.

The towers vary in height from 70 feet at Mackinaw City to one of 300 feet at Rudyard.

While in outward appearance they are identical to tower systems used for transporting television signals, those in use here are equipped for telephone only.

Special modifications are necessary to meet the demands of television transmission and such use is not contemplated, according to Michigan Bell.

One of the systems, designed to provide 40 additional telephone channels from Mackinaw City to St. Ignace, will be ready for operation within a month, the company said.

Two towers, one on each side of the straits, make up that group.

Other towers at Rudyard and Sault Ste. Marie make possible the addition of 40 long distance calling channels from Mackinaw City to Sault Ste. Marie.

Michigan Bell will use the Mackinaw City to St. Ignace system to supplement existing under water cable facilities between those

Fire Destroys Caswell Home

The Nolen Caswell home near Brampton on Gladstone Rte. 1 was destroyed by fire at 4 p. m. yesterday, and with it all of the family's household furnishing and clothing.

Believed to have started from a defective chimney, the fire was discovered by Fred Marenger, Escanaba Township school bus driver, who called the township fire department. The fire had gained so much headway that nothing could be saved.

The family, comprising the parents and two young sons, three and five years of age, is living temporarily with Mr. Caswell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Caswell at Brampton.

The Delta County Red Cross has voiced an appeal for assistance for the family, which is in need of clothing and furniture and other household articles.

Persons with articles to contribute to the stricken family are asked to contact the Red Cross, phone Escanaba 97.

Donald S. Leonard Should Be People's Choice For Governor

THE outstanding contest in Tuesday's general election in Michigan is that for the office of governor—G. Mennen Williams, Democrat vs. Donald Leonard, Republican.

The Escanaba Daily Press heartily endorses the candidacy of Donald Leonard and recommends his election as governor of Michigan.

There are, of course, many important contests in Tuesday's election. They include all of the major state offices, members of

Words, Wit & Wisdom

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

On their first trip abroad, a sudden storm made Mr. and Mrs. Schmeerkase violently ill. To add to their discomfort, their young son Fenimore grew more obstreperous. Mrs. Schmeerkase finally moaned to her husband, "I wish you'd speak to Fenimore." Mr. Schmeerkase, barely able to life his head, murmured feebly, "Hello, Fenimore."

The judge frowned when he looked at the accused and demanded "Haven't I seen that face of yours before?" "Indeed you have, your honor," said the defendant hopefully. "I gave your son violin lessons last winter."

"Ah, yes," recalled the judge and added, "Guilty."

"Now aren't you the Mrs. Murphy whose husband had the cramps?" mused Dr.

Doolittle. "I hope the medicine I prescribed straightened him out." "That it did, nodded Mrs. Murphy grimly. "We buried him yesterday."

The World's Work and God's Work

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Among the many religious newspapers which have flourished in this country was a notable weekly called The Christian Work. Its title added "and Evangelist," but as its title suggested, its major emphasis was upon work.

It was a rather unique title, for most religious papers in their titles suggest some form of religious conviction, faith, or aspiration, or the church or sectarian affiliation of the paper. Typical of these was The Herald of Gospel Liberty, organ of the Christian Church, which, on the union of the Christian Church with the Congregational Churches, was merged with The Congregationalist, which I was then editing.

These papers, vying for which was the older, a matter in dispute with The Churchman and one or two other papers, were considerably over a hundred years old. The Congregationalist once claimed to be the oldest in continuous publication, having never missed a week in 125 years.

A Presbyterian paper, claiming earlier origin, through no fault of its own had been suspended for some weeks during the period of the Civil War.

Religious journalism, naturally, is of some interest to me, having spent half of my ministerial life in editing religious papers, but I started out to write about work, secular and religious.

To the intelligent and earnest Christian, who knows his New Testament, there is no such thing as secular work.

both houses of the Michigan Legislature, U. S. senator, representatives in Congress and the various county elective offices.

The result of each of these contests is of considerable importance to the voters. But the major contest is that for governor and it also will probably be one of the closest contests in Tuesday's election.

Gov. Williams has served three terms as governor of Michigan. He has won reelection twice, both in extremely close contests, because he is a personable politician, a friendly square dancer and a man who devotes most of his time to campaigning for reelection. As a handsaker, Gov. Williams is far out in front of anyone who ever before held the state's chief executive position.

Donald S. Leonard, on the other hand, is a man of different characteristics. He is an outstanding administrator, a marvelous organizer and a man of great judgment. He is well familiar with the problems of public office. His record of achievements as director of the Michigan State Police and later as commissioner of police in the City of Detroit is outstanding.

As governor of Michigan, Donald Leonard could do and would do a masterful job of leadership for the benefit of all of the people of Michigan. Working with a Republican Legislature, Leonard would be one of the most able governors in the state's illustrious history. He has all of the requirements for greatness in the executive field of public service.

Study the respective qualities of the two candidates, Williams and Leonard. One is a politician whose major interest is in getting votes. The other is an executive with the experience, ability and judgment for outstanding leadership.

Which would you prefer for the tremendously important job of governor of Michigan?

Obviously, the choice is Donald S. Leonard for greatest efficiency and for the best interests of the entire state of Michigan.

A—The earliest date known in the Egyptian calendar is 4236 B. C., according to the calendar we use.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Are the American people really going to vote next Tuesday to usher in an era of confusion and business hesitation?

Are the more than 62,000,000 persons employed going to take the risks of a business recession which can come if the whole structure of business confidence begins to waver when the whole world is told that America has repudiated the Eisenhower administration at the polls?

These are the questions which voters will be asking themselves, especially those who do not believe in confiscation of their savings through radical policies of taxation and government spending. Business men abroad as well as in the United States are watching to see whether America, after skillfully and effectively halting the unsound inflation of wartime, turns leftward once more.

The American people are for the most part conservative liberals and not radical liberals. The electorate which owns so many homes and has billions of savings doesn't seem to know yet how a triumph for the radical liberals in the election next week can destroy the confidence of American business men so that they can no longer plan with certainty.

MORE DISSENSION

Will the nation have to go through two years of debate and dissension before the forward movement of economic progress can be resumed, if it ever is? The coming election has in it many delicate issues of this kind which hardly justify voters in being indifferent to the consequences of staying at home on election day.

There are, to be sure, reports from correspondents and political analysts generally who seem to feel that the country is going to do the incredible thing—actually turn out of power in Congress a party which has made an outstanding record in the transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy.

Where are the facts, it may be asked, on which the pre-election prophecies are being made? There has been no nation-wide poll made by Dr. Gallup or anyone else covering each congressional district or each state where there's a senatorial contest. A few straw-vote polls of the old-fashioned type have been made in scattered areas, but the history of the unscientifically made poll is not one that compares with the accuracy of those taken on a sampling basis with scientific methods.

INCONCLUSIVE POLL

Dr. Gallup has released a poll showing the relative strength of the Republican and Democratic parties generally across the nation, and this shows the Republicans leading. But it doesn't matter in such a poll whether a heavy majority in a given Republican district is down by as much as 90 per cent and there is a pick-up in another district—this type of poll is not conclusive in a congressional election.

So, since there is no evidence thus far but only hunch or guess or analysis based on the behavior of party workers or the worried look of this or that nominee, it cannot be said at this writing that the outcome of the election is assured either way. While it doesn't happen often that elections are swung in the last week, it does occur, as political leaders whose side has lost in the past have acknowledged when an eleventh hour drive beats them.

Republicans are picking up enthusiasm and courage notwithstanding that they have been hearing constantly for several weeks that they were going to lose. Maybe it is the fact that President Eisenhower is campaigning actively which is bringing a changed morale. Maybe it is the break which the Republicans got in European developments, which certainly are roster on the side of peace than at any time since 1945. For the slogan—peace and prosperity—is beginning to take hold with the voters as election day approaches. Another concept which has caused many voters to hesitate before voting against the party in power when things are going well is often expressed by the saying: "Don't change horses in midstream."

The Republicans have been a bit slow in getting their statistics to the public. But the figures contain some potent arguments. For they show that, since the turn of the century, the Democratic party when in power has not been able in peacetime to equal the records for per capita income that have been possible under Republican administrations.

Only in wartime have the Democratic administrations been able to get the employment figures up to heights above their Republican opponents.

Even converting dollars of past years into the purchasing power of 1953 dollars, so that all years are on a comparable basis, the figures show that the American people in 1953 and 1954 have enjoyed the highest disposable income per person that has ever been recorded.

A doctor says that hard workers smile the most. When you're up on your toes you're not down in the mouth.

The average American takes over 18,000 steps a day, according to statistics. It doesn't mean a thing unless they get you some place.

A judge in Michigan sent a woman to jail for refusing to talk. Our first thought would be to give her a medal.

Moscow Maps Another Korea; 'Liberation' Of Japan Next Move

By LEON DENNEN

NEA Staff Correspondent
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(NEA)—Watch "developments in Japan."

The Moscow-Peking Axis, encouraged by the defeat of the European Army proposal and Red victory in Indo-China, is planning to make of Japan another Korea.

The evidence is there for all to see. When the Red fifth columns finally strike in Japan, no U. S. or Western politician will be in a position to claim that he has not been warned in advance.

U. S. intelligence officials have in their possession a copy of a speech made in Paris on July 26 by Jacques Duclos, chief of the French Communist Party.

The paunchy 58-year-old ex-pastor cook, who is widely regarded as Moscow's top agent in the West, addressed a secret conclave of high officials of the Cominform, the Kremlin's political arm and fifth column in the free world.

Here is what Duclos said: "Communism is again on the march in Asia. The conquest of Asia is a necessity for us, Communists, but we must achieve our aim, if possible, without war. Russia's victory in Indo-China was only a beginning. Soon there will also be new and startling developments in Japan."

Duclos' ominous forecast is confirmed in detail by Moscow's Pravda of Sept. 3, a copy of which just reached the U. S.

The Kremlin's mouthpiece, in a long editorial on "Japan's National Interests," comes straight to the point:

It was, of course, "the military forces of the Soviet Union and China" who liberated Japan in World War II.

And it is "the U. S. that prevented occupied Japan—and this is also admitted by Japanese leaders of various political views—from developing along democratic lines."

Says Pravda: "As facts show, the American occupation is a national disaster for Japan. The ruling American circles seek to transform the country into a battlefield and a supplier of cannon fodder in order to realize their criminal adventures."

But the Kremlin bosses, as usual, do not despair, for "the Japanese people in trouble due to the U. S. occupation are not ready to make peace with the existing situation."

The contrary is true, according to Pravda: "The Japanese people struggle actively against the militarization of their country and demand the withdrawal of U. S. troops and liquidation of the numerous U. S. bases on Japanese soil."

Here, then, is a forecast of things to come as clear as daylight. The Red mouthpiece, as usual, put in the mouth of the "people"—in this case the "Japanese people"—the plans that the Reds themselves aim to carry out in the near future.

The last part of the Red editorial distribte against "American imperialism" deserves to be quoted in full if only because the free world, especially the U. S., will hear a great deal more about it in the days to come.

Pravda writes: "A powerful

REDS ON THE MARCH IN JAPAN: For Tokyo's May Day, Communist paraders carry paper caricatures of President Eisenhower and a pro-American member of the Japanese cabinet as they demonstrate against United States influence in Japan's affairs.

campaign for the ban of atomic and hydrogen weapons is developing in Japan. Already 18 million signatures have been collected." The Red-inspired "peace" campaign also received the backing of 34 prefectures and 104 municipal councils "embracing 64 million Japanese."

All this, of course, is conclusive proof to the Moscow-Peking Axis that "there are forces in Japan able to struggle against the policy of war and enslavement of Japan by American imperialism."

To anyone familiar with the typical Red double talk all this is plain enough. As though to clinch the argument, the August issue of the New Times, the Cominform's chief organ, adds:

"Developments in Asia, the mounting success of the national-liberation movement, convincingly show that nowadays the urge of its teeming millions for liberty and national independence cannot be crushed."

Bureau Has Perfect Prosecution Record Banning Bad Foods

LANSING (AP)—The State Bureau of Marketing and Enforcement, which tries to protect housewives from watered-down sausage and weighted-down scales, reported a 100 per cent prosecution record for the past two years.

The bureau's biennial report said 1,341 cases were prosecuted and all of them resulted in convictions. The bad food practices cost violators about $50,000 in fines and court costs, and 21 days of jail sentences.

The violations covered insanitation, adulteration, misbranding, and faulty weights and measures. Some of the violations uncovered by the bureau seem strangely out of place in an age of super-sanitation.

The bureau's inspectors reported they found soft drinks contaminated with bacteria, parasites in codfish and meat from diseased livestock. There were rotten eggs by the bushel, rotten apples used for apple juice, and mice in the bottoms of unopened soft drink bottles, they said.

The report said the bureau checked some 270,000 weighing and measuring devices, and condemned about 42,000 of them as inaccurate. Most of the unfit food never reached the public. The bureau seized over 2 million pounds of fruits and vegetables, about 69,000 pounds of meat, and some 110,000 eggs that were spoiled, rotten, or otherwise below standard.

Misbranding and marketing fraudulent packs was the most common offense over the two year period, the report said. There were 466 such cases; against 404 instances of adulteration and 84 of short weight or measure.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
ROME, Italy.—(NEA)—U. S. newspaper readers who have found it difficult to follow all the details of Italy's celebrated Montessi scandal can get a better grasp of the plot by substituting well-known American names for the principals in the real, Italian cast of characters.

This case of course centers around the still unsolved murder of an attractive Italian girl of 21, Wilma Montessi, whose body—clad only in scanties—was found washed up on the shore of a fashionable Mediterranean beach near Rome.

For the sake of making an American parallel to this case, suppose Wilma's body had been found at Newport, R. I. Then suppose a party girl from right out of the equivalent of a "Mickey" Jekke case had come forward and testified that Wilma Montessi had been murdered by the son of U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. (In the real Italian case, this was Piero Piccioni, son of Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni.)

Suppose also that this party girl (Anna Maria Caglio in the Italian east) testified that the Secretary of State's son had committed this murder as he assassin for a dope smuggling ring after an all-night dope and sex orgy at exclusive Bailey's Beach. To cap it all, suppose further that Anna Maria Caglio had testified that the head of this dope smuggling ring was her former lover, a self-styled Marquis (Ugo Montago) who was a close friend of J. Edgar Hoover and Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay.

It is of course inconceivable to Americans that a son of John Foster Dulles, that J. Edgar Hoover or that Secretary McKay would be involved in any such scandal. Yet the equivalent of this is what confronted the Italian voters on the eve of their last elections.

THE GERMANS ARE all over Italy. They are far more numerous and far more noticeable than the Americans. The Germans have come this time not as the masters of Italy, but as tourists. They come by chartered bus, by private car, by bicycle, motor scooter and even on foot, with packs on their backs.

The Italians aren't sure they like this new German invasion. "They pushed us around during the war," complained one Italian, "and they're pushing us around again now, as tourists. We don't like it any better now than we did then."

THE LENGTHS to which Communists will go for an issue they can beat Americans over the head with is shown by a poster stuck up on the walls in one of the poorer sections of Perugia, Italy. It reads as follows:

"FORMOSA is not an American island. It is Chinese and it ought to be returned to China.

"Those who recognize the justice of this are:

"Six Hundred Million Chinese—
"The government of India—
"The Labor Party of England—
"The government of London.
"It is so established by the declaration of Cairo in December 1943—subscribed to by Roosevelt, Churchill and Chiang Kai-Shek.
"For the Peace—
"Everyone to his own house."

This poster was not signed by anyone.

ONE OF THE GREAT myths of Italian tourism is that their hotels have done away with the tipping evil and raised the wages of waiters, maids and bellhops at the same time by putting a regular "service charge" on the guest's hotel or restaurant bill.

This "servizio" can run from a modest 10 per cent at the lower-priced accommodations, up to 15 and 18 per cent at de luxe establishments. Even then you're supposed to tip something.

Italian menus look inexpensive on the table d'hote list, too. Beefsteak and filet mignon, the top items, are only $1 to $1.25 (600 to 750 lira) at the best eating places. But all vegetables are extra, there is a cover charge, the service charge, a local tax and a stamp tax. The end result is that it costs like New York.

AMERICANS HAVE been sold a false bill of goods on the idea that Italy is a poverty-stricken nation that will require American aid for years to come, in order to break even. By comparison, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey even parts of France and of course all of the countries behind the Iron Curtain, Italy is rich.

Southern Italy has a course been a poorhouse and a blighted area for centuries. But a 2000-mile motor trip all over northern Italy—such as this reporter has just completed—reveals a rich agriculture, an industrialization, and a tremendous strength in manpower which is the basic resource of all national wealth.

What Italy seems to need more than anything else is good government.

Rocket Weapons Sent To Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today it is sending to Europe "several batteries" of the new long range rocket "Honest John" which is capable of carrying an atomic warhead.

The new weapons "will be deployed to Europe within the next few months for support of the military forces under Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther," the announcement said.

Gruenther is commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces in Europe.

The Army noted that this is the third type of new weapon to be sent for the defense of Western Europe. Previously units of the 280 atomic cannon and the "Corporal" guided missile—which also can carry an atomic warhead—have been deployed to the Western European defense zone.

The "Honest John" units are now in training at Fort Sill, Okla., and Fort Bragg, N. C.

"The batteries will be assigned to United States units to train and maneuver with NATO forces," the announcement said.

"This is another step in a long range plan to provide the most effective weapons for the defense of the free world."

The maximum accurate range of the Honest John is about 8 or 9 miles. The weapon is a ballistic rocket, not a guided missile. It is aimed at the target before firing and then describes a parabola in its flight.

More Puerto Ricans Rounded Up For Plot Against U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department announced today that FBI agents have rounded up a second group of nine leading members of the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico in New York City and Chicago. All were charged with seditious conspiracy.

In addition, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said a federal detainee was placed against a tenth nationalist currently held in the Cook County Jail at Chicago.

The department said a federal grand jury in New York City had returned seditious indictments against the ten.

The indictment alleged participation in a plot to overthrow the government by violence.

Old Snakeroot Drug From India Is Cure For Mental Illness

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP)—A research team today reported "dramatic" and seemingly "incredible" results in treating "hopelessly" insane patients with a new form of an old snakeroot remedy from India.

They said the drug, reserpine, brought improvement in 80 per cent of the 74 "back ward" mental hospital patients they treated. Eight have been discharged and 20 others have become so much better with continued use of the drug that they may be sent home on leaves of absence.

Reserpine also appeared to help mentally retarded patients.

Treatment Simplified

The doctors said reserpine should not be regarded as a "panacea in the treatment of the mentally ill and mentally retarded." However, if further studies bear out their results, they added, "reserpine will be the most important therapeutic development in the history of psychiatry."

They added they expect it to revolutionize present psychiatric treatment.

They added they believe reserpine can be substituted as superior for the often-feared electroconvulsive shock treatments in 75 per cent of mental cases.

Reserpine is a chemically pure derivative of rauwolfia serpentina. This Indian plant has been used for centuries in the treatment of mental illness, insomnia, snake bite, anxiety states and other conditions. Lately, it has been found effective in lowering blood pressure in hypertensive patients.

Acts On Brain

The team of American physicians, Drs. Robert H. Noe and David B. Williams of Modesto, Calif., and Walter Rappaport of Sacramento, investigated reserpine because of recent enthusiastic reports from India on its effectiveness in mental illness.

They selected for their study only those mental patients at Modesto State Hospital with the poorest prospects for recovery.

Writing in the journal of the American Medical Assn. on results obtained with the drug, they said: "Patients have undergone a metamorphosis from raging, combative uncooperative persons to cooperative, friendly, cheerful, sociable relatively quiet persons who are amenable to psychotherapy and rehabilitative measures."

The drug apparently acts on the hypothalamus, the seat of emotional behavior in the brain. The doctors said the drug not only exerts a tranquilizing action but "we believe that a reorganization of the personality is taking place in an amazing, rapid, satisfactory manner."

Expert Approves Use Of Fluorine

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Americans consume 100 pounds of sugar per person a year and that giant sweet tooth "causes a sour tooth of equally gigantic proportions," a dental expert said Thursday.

"The sour acids of tooth decay affect 95 per cent of our population," said Dr. Paul E. Boyle, professor of oral histology and pathology at the University of Pennsylvania School of Dentistry.

Boyle, speaking at the 37th annual meeting of the American Dietetic Assn., said sweets cause most tooth decay.

"Studies have shown that nutritional deficiencies do not cause cavities," he said. "They affect teeth only while the teeth are still being formed."

He said experiments have shown that fluorine in tiny amounts during the period of tooth formation reduces the occurrence of cavities by at least 50 per cent.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

When the Blackwood Convention drew the information that North had only one ace, South wisely signed off at five hearts. A five-trump "fishing expedition" for kings was too risky—South would automatically find himself in a slam, regardless of North's response. (As a matter of fact, even the four-trump bid was out of line—four clubs was the right rebid.)

West laid down the ace of spades, then, on slight of dummy, shifted to a diamond. Dummy won with the ace, and declarer cashed the top trumps. When East showed out, South was very glad that he'd been "conservative," but he wished he'd been even more so, because, very obviously, even the five-heart contract was now far from safe.

South saw that a successful diamond finesse would not be conclusive, since he could discard only one club from his own hand and still would have to catch the club queen. So South tried a different plan. He cashed the spade king, discarding a diamond from dummy, then led directly to the diamond king and ruffed away the diamond jack. Now he threw West in with the high trump.

If West had been afraid to give declarer a ruff-and-discard, i. e., if he had led back a club, South's plan would have worked out beautifully, but West made no such error. It was clear that South as well as dummy held four clubs, so what good would it do him to get rid of one of them? West played another spade, and this left South high and dry.

South's line of play was almost right, but not quite. If he had discarded a club from dummy on the spade king and then proceeded exactly as he did, the result would have been very different.

Navy Switching Submarine Crews

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—The Navy has found a new way to save money in the submarine service — switching entire crews. It works this way:

The snorkel sub USS Sterlet recently was sent from San Diego to replace the USS Besugo at Pearl Harbor. Crews of the two subs also were switched, thereby eliminating the need of transporting dependents to the new station.

Municipal Airport Plays Major Role In Development Of City

The American public has become rather blasé concerning aviation. A plane passing over Escanaba will have to be more than ordinarily large and fly dangerously close to the housetops to attract attention. And the Escanaba Municipal Airport seems to be taken entirely for granted by the average resident.

It may therefore, be a surprise to many people to learn the important part that air transportation plays in the general scheme of things in Escanaba. The North Central Airlines, Inc., which uses the facilities of the airport, provides travel accommodations for 84 passengers every 24 hours. That is, four Douglas DC-3 planes of 21 passenger capacity, arrive and take off every day, providing terminal transportation to Chicago and Detroit.

And these accommodations will likely be enlarged by the addition of two more planes of same capacity to the schedule. This new schedule is due to become effective shortly after the first of November, according to Fred H. Sensiba, airport manager.

Private Planes Increasing

Figures reveal that in the course of an ordinary month, 460 passengers have arrived or departed on these planes.

Figures also show that in one representative month 79 private transport planes landed at the airport. The use of these planes is constantly on the increase, both in the number of craft and in their size.

Personnel of large industrial plants—Harnischfeger, Mead, Inland Lime & Stone, for example—are using planes with increasing frequency in business trips, many using Escanaba as a focal point for trips to other cities in the area.

Expansion And Improvement

This increase in the use of local airport facilities, reflected by the constant increase in general aviation, has naturally meant a demand for accommodations that are suitable to the needs and requirements of planes landing here. And it may in truth be said that airport facilities have progressed a long way since 1934 when the present site was first used.

Sponsors of the airport put over the project with full confidence that it would serve local needs to the fullest extent. Commercial aviation did not figure greatly in the picture and the amateurs who took up flying asked little more than a large level field free of obstructions. A windsock, a beacon light and lights delineating the field's boundaries were regarded as improvements bordering on luxuries.

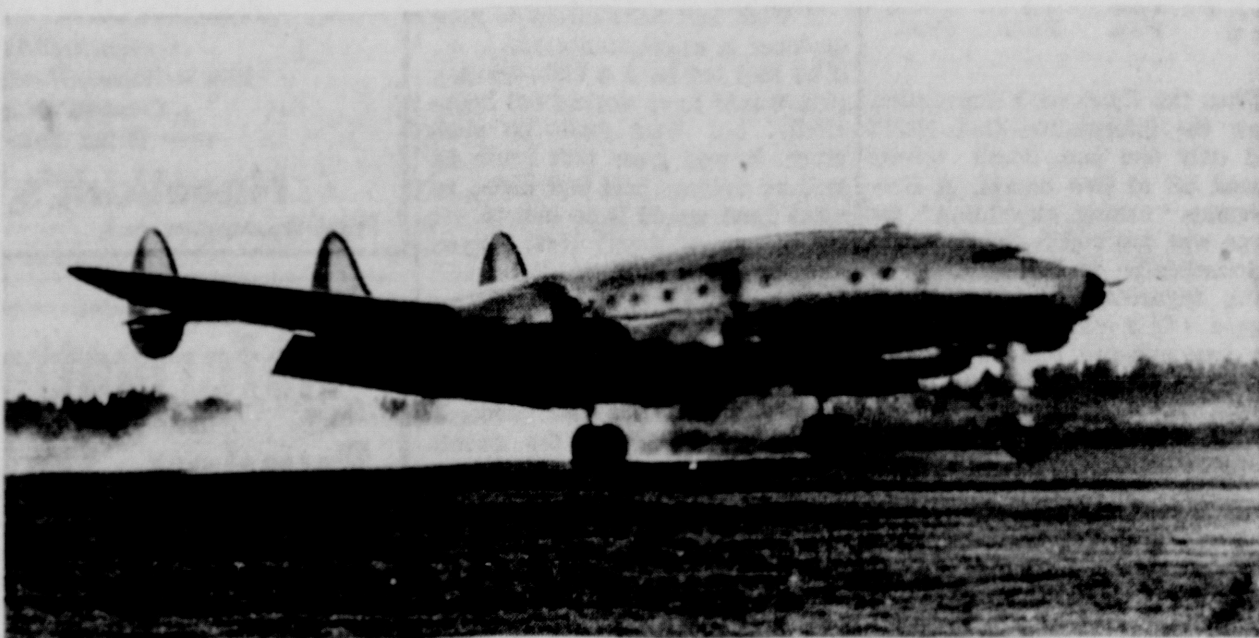

Shortly afterward two runways were made. A north strip approximately 250 feet wide, extending from 18th Ave. S. to a point south 2,640 feet distant and another strip east and west starting from the north-south runway and extending 2,640 feet to the west. This was roughly about 300 feet wide.

War Demanded Improvements

The size of this runway was adequate for the time as planes then in use were slower and designed to operate on smaller fields. Then came the war and, of course, requirements for longer runways.

Then, when Nationwide Airlines started, it was soon found that the length of the runway was much too short. The airlines put up with the handicap for some time, but had to submit to loading restrictions and state rules and regulations that reflected seriously on the company's potential volume of business. The state board of aeronautics finally requested that the length of the runway be increased to 3,800 feet and this was done. The state participated in the cost involved.

The lengthening of the airport runway and other improvements have been installed from time to time, but again certain regulations place the airport under a handicap. Federal regulation prohibits a carrier to land on the north-south runway if the wind is at 90 degrees to the runway and 16 miles an hour or better. If the wind should be blowing in a direction more in line with the runway landings can be made with higher wind velocities. For instance, a northwest wind at 21 miles per hour would still permit landings within regulations, and landings with winds head on up to 50 miles from Washington. Reversible propellers made it possible for the plane to reduce speed for a landing on the 3800 foot Escanaba runway. (Daily Press Photo)

Leon Winkelman Describes Big Game Hunting In Dark Africa

The realization of a boyhood dream came true was the most recent adventure of Leon G. Winkelman, Detroit, who this week was a visitor in Gladstone at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Seymour Lewis, 620 Michigan Ave. Mr. Winkelman, proprietor of the Winkelman Store chain, is a former Manistiquia resident.

He had two ambitions since early youth—to see the gondolas of Venice and participate in a big game hunt in Africa. Now by October 1954, he has traveled to Venice several times and just returned from an African safari with a few big game trophies to his credit.

Leaving in June, Mr. Winkelman and his son, Henry, a University of Michigan student, traveled 17,900 miles before their return after seven weeks. They boarded an airliner in New York City and flew to London, from London to Rome and from Rome to Cairo, Egypt. The pair covered the entire continent of Africa—North Africa, East Central Africa and the Union of South Africa.

"Dark Africa"

These three sections of Africa, a continent with a population of 2,000,000 people, are separated socially, politically and economically, Winkelman stated. North Africa, made up of the Arab countries, is where nationalism is on the uprise among the Moslem populace.

"Dark Africa," a common title for East Central Africa, includes the Uganda, Kenya and Tanganyika provinces. Within these three provinces there are 229 tribes. All these tribes have their own language, but they also have a universal language, "swahili," the 12th most important oral language in the world. Two tribes, the Masai tribe of Tanganyika, which is peaceful but resentful to the missionaries that come into the territory and interfere with their primitive mode of living, and the Kikuyu tribe (Mau Mau) of Kenya, which is very aggressive and planning on gaining control, are the two principal tribes.

The third section of Africa, per hour are permissible.

A hard surfaced east-west runway is badly needed to assure landing of aircraft under all reasonable weather conditions, and a move is on foot to make this improvement a reality. To make this possible state and local funds will be sought and these in turn will have to be matched by federal funds.

Longer Runways Needed

But with the constant advance in aviation and popularity and general acceptance of air travel by the public as a safe and fast mode of transportation, it is plain to be seen that improvement in facilities here is a must not contemplated fully at this time.

Only last Wednesday an 80,000 pound plus Constellation, carrying Air Secretary Harry E. Talbott and party, put the airport to its stiffest test. The plane was the largest plane ever to land here. The landing was made at terrific speed and it would have required a runway many times the length of the one here to accommodate the plane before its energy was spent. But thanks to reversible propellers applied at a midway point on the runway, the huge plane landed with room to spare.

LEON WINKELMAN is pictured here with a water buffalo that he shot on a hunting expedition in Africa.

Union of South Africa, consists of the Orange Free State, Transvaal, Natal and the Cape of Good Hope. This area is controlled by a small percentage of "Africans," which is dynamite! In the city of Johannesburg, 90% of the native population must be locked in compounds by 9 p. m. and remain there until the next day.

Well Organized Safari

Nairobi of the Kenya territory in East Central Africa was the point from where Mr. Winkelman and his son, Henry, began their safari. Their safari outfit, a well organized unit of 14, was owned by a professional hunter, Stanley Lawrence Brown, one of the best professional hunters in the business. In the outfit were two professional hunters, one skinner, two cooks, one tent boy, two waiters (who dressed up in uniform and fezzes when they served) and five extra natives to do other work around the camp as needed.

A fortnight was spent in shooting in the bush country of Tanganyika, south of Arusha, movies were taken of the Masai tribe, north of Arusha and movies were taken of wild life in the Amboseli game reserve at the foothills of Mount Kilimanjaro. It took six months to organize the safari without the aid of a travel bureau.

Camp was set up near a water hole, amidst the beautiful African acacia tree, where the grass stood five to six feet tall. Grass had to be cut over an area of 1/4 a square block in order to keep wild life and fires out. Lions and leopard hung around the gullies of the water hole where they prey on the deer who come down to drink. At night, the rhinos came to camp and the cry of the hyenas, a most weird sound, could be heard.

Mr. Winkelman, Henry and their group hunted on the Mt. Meru plains, 150 miles south of Arusha, which is famous for hunters on safaris from far and wide parts of the world. They traveled 50 to 60 miles a day in a hunting car, making their own roads through tall grass and knocking down bush and trees. Alongside the road, the zebra and various types of deer are seen by the wayside like cattle are seen in the United States.

Escanaba Couple Is Building Round Home; Unique Design, 20 Inch Walls

Another four or five years of part-time work may be required for the Earl Kosbabs to complete their new home, but when it is finished the structure should withstand the passing of several centuries of time—barring earthquakes and H-bombs.

Unique in design and conception, the structure being built by the Kosbabs on the west bank of the Ford River in Ford River Township was the original idea of Earl, who first made a scale model from which to work in carrying out the actual construction. The Kosbabs reside at 506 S. 10th St. in Escanaba, but will make Ford River their home when the new house is completed.

"We've been working on it for about three years in our spare time—evenings and weekends—and we expect it will take another four or five years to complete," Earl reported.

Stone And Concrete

All of the walls of the house will be of native limestone, the cantilever beams supporting the roof will be of reinforced concrete—and the house will be round.

About 120 tons of quarry-run stone was purchased by the Kosbabs from the Gierke brothers, Sherman and Howard, who operate a quarry near Fairport in Delta County. This stone (similar to the stone used in constructing the iron ore smelters at Fayette nearly 90 years ago) will be used for the solid masonry walls of the Kosbab home.

In addition to the 120 tons of stone, the Kosbabs will use a total of about 60 tons of concrete. Only wood in the house will be the planks in the roof.

Round Living Room

The Kosbabs selected a high ridge overlooking the Ford River as the site for their unique house. It is near their present cottage, where they stay weekends while working on the project.

Although the house will be round it will have but one round room—the living room. Inside diameter of the entire structure will be 53 feet, centered by the round living room, which will have a diameter of 26 feet. The 20-inch-wide stone walls of the living room will support 18 reinforced concrete cantilever beams. The ends of the beams will center in the roof over the living room, and from there will radiate to the outer walls like the spokes of a wheel.

A large fireplace is being built into the house as a part of the living room wall. Radiant heating within the concrete floor of the house, plus a heater unit in the fireplace, are planned.

Clerestory Windows

Around the center living room will be grouped a number of other rooms, including two bedrooms, kitchen, utility room, garage and workshop.

The living room will be lighted by wall windows opening onto a porch and by a circle of clerestory windows in the roof. Other rooms will be lighted by windows in the outer wall.

Artificial lighting in the living room will be reflected from behind a copper molding, providing a soft and indirect illumination. The Kosbabs have made several sketches in their development of interior lighting and decoration plans.

The roof in the center of the living room will be 10 1/2 feet high, with other ceiling heights varying from eight to seven feet.

Little Paint, No Plaster

Because of the massive masonry chimney and the broken roof line to permit clerestory windows the structure will have pleasing structural lines, although unusual compared to the traditional concept of home design.

The Kosbabs' will have little if any need for plaster or paint in finishing the interior of the rooms. The stone walls in hues varying from bluish-gray to pastel green will be left natural. The exterior will never need paint as a preservative.

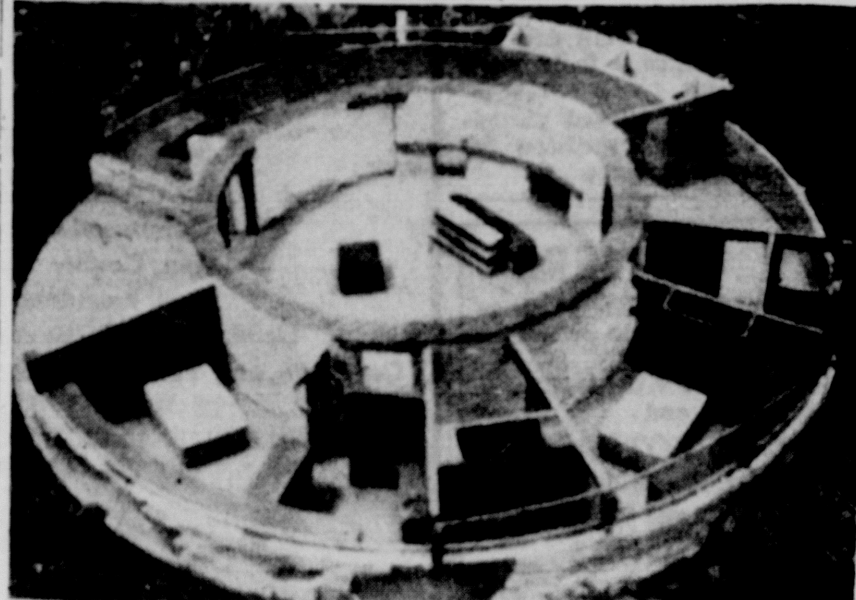

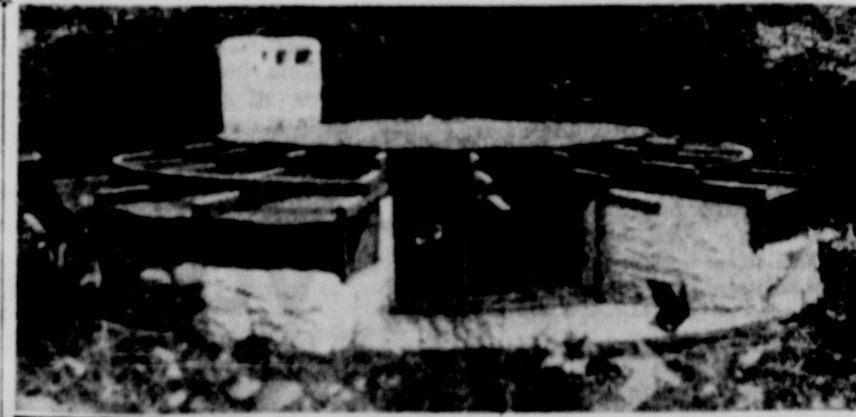

Stone from the Gierke quarry at Fairport has been used in the construction of one other home in this area—that of T. Dale Vinette, 1200 S. 17th St. Elsewhere in the community it has been used in retaining walls for terraces.

Aside from its unusual design and the fact that it will require little if any maintenance, the Kosbab home will have an enduring quality that will make it outlast other structures not of solid masonry construction.

BEGINNING TO TAKE SHAPE—One hundred and twenty tons of stone will be used by the Kosbabs in their masonry house, pictured at its present stage of construction on the west bank of the Ford River. A sparetime project, the Kosbabs expect to have their new home completed within the next four or five years. (Daily Press Photo)

THE HOUSE MODEL—Kosbab constructed a scale model of the house he is building at Ford River. Pictured is the model house in profile and looking into it with the roof removed.

Keep Ballot Valid:

You Can Lose Your Vote With Improper Markings

Although you may be a citizen, 21 years of age, registered to vote and otherwise qualified — you still lose your vote in the polling booth on election day.

Michigan election law, for example, is specific in instructing voters to make a cross (not a check mark, when marking their ballot. Yet scores of persons still persist in placing a check in the square or circles — and thus make it necessary for election officials to reject the ballot.

Ballots with unnecessary markings or alterations and listed as "mutilated" and cannot be counted.

Voters who make a mistake in voting and spoil their ballot should return the whole set to election officials. They will issue a new set of ballots to give the voter a second try.

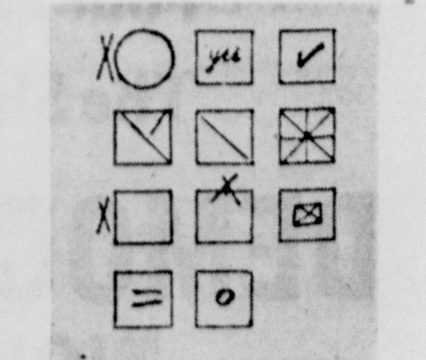

Another way your vote may be lost is to show your ballot (after you have voted) to anyone at the polling place. This is described as "exposing" your ballot to reveal how you have voted, and your ballot will be rejected and placed with others that have been spoiled.

Election laws place other obligations upon the citizen visiting the polls on election day. The law prohibits anyone "introducing" liquor into the building housing the polling place; and the law also states that election officials are not to drink alcoholic liquor while in the job.

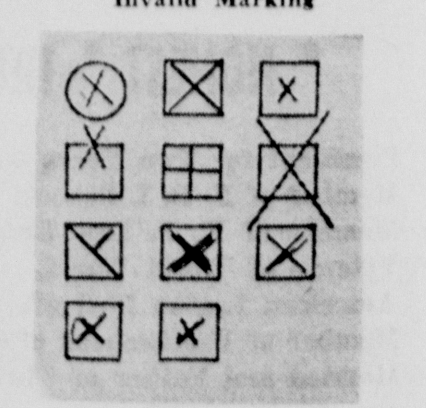

If you have a friend who is a candidate for office, you are not permitted under law to solicit votes for him within 100 feet of any entrance to the building in which the polling place is located. Solicitation means "talking up" your candidate or "talking down" his opponent, handing out cards, stickers, and so forth.

Failure to register disqualifies many persons from voting when election day rolls around. If you failed to register before the deadline (now past) you will not be permitted to vote on Nov. 2 — for no person may register on election day.

In conclusion, some persons may

Beverly Terrian Is The Bride Of Leo T. Evans

A gown of white nylon lace over aqua taffeta was worn by Miss Beverly June Terrian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rene Terrian of Cornell for her marriage to Leo Theodore Evans. The single ring ceremony took place Oct. 23, at 9 a. m. at Holy Family Church in Flat Rock with Father Gerard F. LaMothe officiating.

The bride gown was designed with a scoop neckline, lace pleum and a ballerina length skirt of three tiers of net over taffeta. The bride's sweetheart hat was of matching aqua net. She carried white carnations and mums and pink rosebuds with satin shower ribbons.

Preceding her to the altar where she was given in marriage by her father were her sister, Miss Verna Terrian, who was maid of honor, and a cousin, Miss Therese Carignan, bridesmaid. They wore pink strapless bolero gowns of pink nylon net and lace over taffeta and carried rubrum lilies.

Reception At Hall
Alphonse Petroit was best man for the son of Mrs. Victoria Evans of Cornell. Richard Delvaux of Escanaba, a cousin of the bride, served as groomsman.

Mrs. Terrian wore a turquoise blue dress with navy velvet accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Evans wore grey with red accessories. Their corsages were pink roses.

The wedding breakfast for the bride and immediate family members was served in the Rainbow Room of Bell's Restaurant and the reception for 125 guests was held at the Cornell Hall. Centering the bride table was a three-tiered white wedding cake decorated with pink roses and a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mixed fall flowers and matching tapers completed the decorations. Miss Sharon Miron poured and Miss Christine Kronich served the wedding cake.

The newlyweds who went to the Copper Country for their honeymoon will live in Cornell. The bride wore a rust colored ensemble and a yellow tea rose corsage for going-away.

Wedding guests included Mrs. Alfred Jolly and daughter, Carol, of St. Ignace, Mr. and Mrs. George Doyen and John, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Kronich and daughter, Christine, Loretta and Janet of Gwinn, Betty Lou Brown, Rockford, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Doyen, Arnold and many relatives and friends of Cornell. Escanaba, Gladstone and Wells.

Miss Gauthier, James H. Whitens Wed At Schaffer

Bouquets of chrysanthemums decorated the altars of Sacred Heart Church at Schaffer for the marriage today of Miss Jacqueline Marie Gauthier and James Howard Whitens. The double ring service was read at 9:30 a. m. by the Rev. J. Noel Arneth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gauthier of Bark River Rte. 2 and the bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Flora Whitens of Hermansville.

The music of the Nuptial Mass was played by the church organist, Mrs. Blanche Seymour. Mrs. Roy Seymour sang "Ave Maria" at the Offertory and the choir sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" as the bride placed her bouquet on the Blessed Virgin's altar and the bridegroom lighted a candle at the altar of St. Joseph.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father was attired in a bridal gown of lace and tulle over heavy bridal satin. The molded lace bodice had a row of tiny buttons in back. The full skirt, designed with a lace panel, extended into a cathedral train. The lace bolero which complemented the gown had a high collar and long fitted sleeves which extended to points over the wrist. The bride's fingertip veil of nylon illusion was secured by a Juliet type lace cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white mums centered with red roses, with satin streamers knotted with red roses. Her only jewelry, the bridegroom's gift, was a double strand pearl choker.

Bridal Aides
Honorary attendant was Miss Cecile Gauthier, a sister of the bride. Another sister, Miss Louise Gauthier, and Miss Maxine Fletcher were bridesmaids. The maid of honor's gown of blue, worn with a black velvet bolero was styled with a tiered net skirt over taffeta. Her headband of flowers matched her colonial bouquet of blue and white mums. The bridesmaids' gowns of identical fashion were of yellow and salmon shade. They also wore matching headbands and carried harmonizing colonial bouquets. The attendants' rhinestone necklaces and earrings were the bride's gift.

A green taffeta frock with a black velvet jacket was the attire of little Theresa LaFave, niece of the bride, who was flower girl. She carried a miniature colonial bouquet of roses and white mums to match her headband. Bernard Gauthier, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

George Whitens of Hermansville served as his brother's best man and Richard Whitens, a cousin, was groomsman.

For her daughter's wedding Miss Gauthier chose a two piece navy crepe suit with matching accessories. Mrs. Whitens wore a navy faille suit. Their corsages were white flowers.

Reception This Evening
The reception for 300 guests will be held from 5 to 9 at Potvin's Fireside Room. The Misses Shirley Tounis and Betty Lassard, close friends of the bride, will pour. Miss Gwyneth McInnis and Miss Barbara Jean LaFleur will assist in serving with the Mmes. George Pilon, Joseph Michel, Louis Sabourin and Louis Tounis. The four-tiered wedding cake with a miniature bride cou-

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest King, Cornell Rte. 1, announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Ann King, to Clayton J. LaFave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor LaFave, Escanaba Rte. 1. No date has been set for the wedding.

The newlyweds will live in Hermansville when they return from their honeymoon. For traveling the bride will wear an aqua knit suit with matching accessories. The new Mrs. Whitens is a Bark River-Harris High School graduate. Mrs. Whitens was graduated from Hermansville High School.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Vachon and Mrs. Edna Deroff of Milwaukee, Mrs. Medora Grondine, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ferno, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Florant and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Haskling of Iron Mountain, Mr. and Mrs. Ray LaFave and children, Stambaugh, Mrs. Richard Shallow of Green Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Whitens of Escanaba, Mr. and Mrs. George Helgen, Ishpeming, John Savard and Mrs. Leah Carollo, Hermansville, William Savard of Faithorn, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Basler of Marinette, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Helgen of Scola, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carney of Iron Mountain, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Whitens and Mr. and Mrs. William Whitens of Hermansville.

Church Scene Of Martineau, Wellman Rites

An all white wedding took place at St. Patrick's Church Oct. 23 at 10 a. m. for the marriage of Miss Marilyn Jean Wellman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Larson, 508 S. 16th St., and Donald Keith Martineau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martineau, 217 N. 13th St.

Rev. Francis Hollenbach officiated at the double ring service. During the ceremony, traditional wedding music was sung by St. Patrick's Choir.

Attendants Attired Identical
A gown of white satin was worn by the bride. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a yoke of nylon net forming a V neckline. Two tiers of crystal pleated net, apron effect, styled the full skirt of nylon net, trimmed with handcut motifs of satin beads. Her fingertip veil was caught by a finely shirred silk illusion crown, edged with lustrous pearls. She carried a bouquet.

Miss Mary Berglund acted as maid of honor. Bridal aides were Miss Judith Povolo, Miss Lorraine Gardner and Mrs. Richard Roman. Identical white gowns were worn by the maid of honor and bridal aides. Their gowns were designed with bodices of scalloped lace, inserted with nylon net ruffles. Double layers of net over taffeta were gathered in the full skirts. They wore matching white headpieces and carried bouquets of orchid mums.

Reception And Dance
Best man for Mr. Martineau was Harold Robinette of Hardwood, Mich. William Ness, William Miller and Gary Wellman were groomsman.

Mother of the bride attended the wedding in a two piece suit of white faille with navy accessories, while Mrs. Martineau wore a charcoal grey suit with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages fashioned of white carnations.

A wedding reception was held at the Eagles Hall from 4 to 8 p. m. Assisting in the serving were Miss Maureen Marsden, pouring, and Pat Dubord and Miss Barbara L'Hereux, cutting the cake. A dance was held from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at the Eagles Hall.

Amendment Proposals Explained By League Of Women Voters

Michigan voters will vote on four proposals in an amendment ballot in the election Tuesday, Nov. 2.

The League of Women Voters has prepared an explanation of each of the proposals, together with the arguments for and against each of the proposals. The proposals, explanations and arguments pro and con follow:

Proposal No. 1

Proposal amendment to prevent disqualification of elections because of having moved within this state during the 30 days preceding an election.

Explanation: As the constitution and law presently stand, the voter who moves after registration closes for the 30-day period preceding any election loses his right to vote in that election. He cannot vote in his former voting district because he is no longer a resident there, and he has not resided in the new district long enough to qualify as a voter there.

For: This change in the constitution together with appropriate changes in the law would be a remedy for a type of disfranchisement that seems both unfair and unnecessary. The Governor's Study Commission on Election Law Reform recommended such a change in its report last year. The County Clerks Association of Michigan sponsored this proposal. Extension of the voting privilege in the former district only through the forthcoming election is similar in principle to the procedures now established by law for transfer of registration within a city, village or township.

Against: There seems to be no outstanding reasons for opposition.

Proposal No. 2

Proposed amendment to Section 23, Article X of the Constitution Relative to Sales Tax and distribution of Sales Tax Revenues.

Explanation: This proposal, known popularly as the Conlin plan, is a proposed substitute for the Sales Tax Diversion Amendment passed in 1946. It rewrites into the Constitution the diversion of 1/2c of each 3c sales tax collected to cities, villages and townships on the basis of their population, except that institutionalized persons are to be counted at one-half. It would set aside 2c of each 3c collected to be distributed as it is received to school districts according to a formula to be determined by the Legislature. This would replace the current diversion of 1/2c plus 44.77% of the sales tax revenues required for appropriation to school districts. Collection costs would be deducted before any distribution of the revenues. A guaranteed appropriation for school employees retirement would be a first charge against the 2c before state aid could be distributed to schools.

For: 1. Local governments would receive sales tax revenues for only one-half the number of persons institutionalized there (for whom little or no local services are provided) rather than for the total number as at present.

2. All school aid from sales tax revenues would be distributed on an equalization formula to be determined by the Legislature. This would mean that all schools wishing to receive aid would have to levy a minimum millage. At present 1/2c of each 3c is distributed on the basis of a school census.

3. The time lag for school appropriations would be removed, and all governments sharing in the sales tax i. e. the state, cities, villages, townships and school districts, would share in the same year any fluctuations in its productivity.

4. The state would no longer be required to bear the total cost of collection of sales tax as collection cost would be deducted before diversion of any revenues.

5. The state would be required to make appropriations toward the school employees retirement fund. At present the Legislature makes such appropriations in inadequate amounts.

6. The proposal would guarantee in the first year it was in effect about the same amount of money for public school aid that is now being received under the Sales Tax Diversion Amendment.

Against: 1. The proposal would continue the rigid provisions for distribution of revenues to cities, villages and townships on a strict population basis, regardless of their needs. The Legislature is thus prevented from setting minimum standards for these units, from distinguishing between those with ability and willingness to provide for their own needs.

2. It would write the 2 1/2c sales tax into the Constitution (at present only 1c is frozen there) and would rewrite the required use of the sales tax base (items taxed) making it still impossible for the Legislature to remove the sales tax on food. Accepted principles of government maintain the need for flexibility of taxes and rate; requiring that the Legislature be free to use its best current judgment in establishing them.

3. In providing for the appropriation of 2c to school districts as it is received, the proposal would slough off the burden on decreased sales tax collections to each individual school district. If it wished to do so, the Legislature could set aside a share of the sales tax revenues annually as a reserve against falling receipts.

4. The required retirement appropriation would be a first charge against school aid funds, and would have to be paid completely independently of the productivity of the sales tax. The sum available for school aid would vary inversely with the retirement contribution. This fact might create division among school people as to the shares which should go to school aid and to retirement.

5. Although approximately the same amount of money would be paid to schools under this proposal as at present, the proposal would tend to freeze grants to schools at a time when enrollments are increasing at the rate of 60,000 children a year.

6. The proposal would continue the present system of measuring school needs by the amount of revenue available from sales tax (and the Primary School Interest Fund).

Proposal 3

Proposed Amendment authorizing borrowing of not to exceed $80,000,000.00 to pay bonuses for Military Service during the "Korean War".

Explanation: This would provide for the payment of bonuses to veterans of military service during the Korean War similar to those paid to the veterans of World War II. This bonus would be in addition to benefits provided by the federal government. (Insurance; hospital care; education; financial assistance to buy homes, farms, business severance pay.)

For: 1. This would give recognition to veterans for their service to the country.

2. The state would be pursuing a consistent policy in its treatment of veterans who have served our country during wartime. (State bonuses have been paid to World War I and 11 veterans)

Against: 1. Such bonuses may be an unwarranted expense when there are other great state needs.

2. The method of liquidating the bonds is not clearly stated in the proposal. Additional taxes may have to be levied.

3. Bonds will be long term requiring many dollars of additional interest to be derived from taxation. (Only the interest on the bonds will be paid until the redemption of World War II bonds, thus removing the date of the redemption of the Korean bonds far into the future.)

4. Veterans who served in combat would receive the same benefits as those who held non-combat assignments.

5. Veterans of service between World War II and the Korean War and following the Korean War would not be eligible for this bonus.

6. Some people are of the opinion that states should not provide bonuses for federal military service.

Proposal 4

Proposed amendment to Section 38, Article V of the Constitution to permit the Legislature to authorize charitable lotteries.

Explanation: This amendment was initiated by citizens who desired to legalize non-profit charitable lotteries, and in particular, bingo. Many of these people are members of lodges and charitable organizations which have lost a source of revenue by the interpretation of a Supreme Court decision by the Attorney General that bingo is a form of lottery and is illegal.

For: 1. Passage of the proposal will permit charitable groups to conduct lotteries once again and thus provide them with a relatively easy way to finance their projects.

2. This amendment could permit the legislature to determine what is a non-profit charitable organization and what regulations are essential to protect the public interest. It could also permit the legislature to provide licensing and the submission of accounts by organizations for charity. (This could make it possible for the legislature to regulate the amount to overhead, amount for charity.)

Against: 1. This amendment may legalize all gambling without providing adequate controls.

2. Approval might lead to a dangerous penetration of Michigan by gambling syndicates.

3. Mass gambling might flourish under the guise of charitable organizations.

4. The word "bingo" and the expression "charitable bingo" do not appear anywhere in the text of the proposal. Approval may open the way to the use of any kind of lottery and sale of lottery tickets regardless of where and under what conditions the lottery itself is conducted.

Smugglers Being Robbed By Pirates

MANILA (P) — Moro pirates, with modern arms and swift boats, are preying on smugglers off Palawan island in the southern Philippines.

The sea lanes between Borneo and the southern Philippines have been the center of a rich smuggling trade for years. News dispatches say the Pirates board the slower smuggling boats on the high seas after trailing them from Palawan or North Borneo.

Lumber Dealers Help Builders To Solve Problems

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

Soon you can take virtually all of your household problems to one local clinic. You'll get prescriptions and the right medicine for every structural ailment. Beauty treatments and youth-restoring injections will be available to make your house easier to live in, more fun to live with and—worth more.

The idea is being worked out on a grand scale by local lumber yards and building supply firms. They are about to make their biggest pitch toward helping homeowners, home builders and even apartment dwellers solve every problem from driving a nail straight to setting the dining room table.

It all was demonstrated at the Modern Living Exposition staged in New York by the National Retail Lumber Dealers Assn. Four acres of exhibits, all on one floor in the huge Kingsbridge Armory, were needed to show what this program will mean in every city and town.

Among some 200 exhibits were three full-sized houses, one finished and furnished and the others put together and taken apart daily to show how local lumber yards can tackle reconstruction to speed home building through the use of panel units.

And erected separately, were 18 full-sized rooms, each planned, built, decorated and furnished by different national home magazines. Architects, builders, color stylists and various technicians explained to visiting householders all the hows and whys of the products and methods used.

Of course, the lumber industry put its best foot forward in this show with myriad wood products, such as fancy hardwood plywoods, ponderosa pine millwork, windows and doors prominently featured. But there was no sign of the brakes being applied to other essentials—even competitors with wood.

For example, there was a display of aluminum carports that any do-it-yourselfer can erect as simply as playing with Junior's erector set. In fact, the upright posts of this carport look something like erector set pieces, which makes them decorative as well as readily adjustable. The roof is enameled, plain or striped to suit. Makes a fine canopy for a porch as well.

Decorative hardware and locks also were shown in their latest designs. Grooved nails to end the annoyance of nails popping out of wall board under vibration, aluminum nails made tougher to eliminate bending under hammer blows, screw-threaded nails for flooring to stop the music of floor squeaks were among other exhibits.

Although the industry's latest attitude has been to stress the "how-to-do-it" angle more than the "do-it-yourself" in order to save innocents from going beyond their depths, there still are plenty of fool-proof do-it-yourself items of interest. One of these is a new synthetic (facing stone) to help you change the front of your house, your fireplace or any wall to a random-width masonry finish.

You can put one of these stone faces on your house for 59 cents per square foot. Colors vary from blue-gray through greens and red to buff. Mixtures are attractive. Regular Portland cement mortar is used to apply this material to metal lath or directly to any material which provides a sufficient bond.

The emphasis on glamour that prevailed throughout the show, especially in the magazine-sponsored rooms, prompted hopes that local lumber dealers will be prepared to give more realistic and down-to-earth help to their customers when the localized program really gets rolling.

A carport converted into an "extra" room was said to have cost $5,000 to build as an exhibit. We wondered how a family, which would settle for a carport in the first place because a garage could not be afforded, could finally manage to convert that carport into a luxurious room with a stone fireplace and a $1,500 storage wall, plus window walls and other expensive touches.

Maybe a windfall would do it.

Beauty Of Wood Boosts Cedar Closet Popularity

Home builders are installing cedar lined closets today as much for their attractive appearance as for their protective qualities, building authorities report. The rich, rose-and-white beauty of the wood and its fresh, pleasing fragrance, they say, are particularly appreciated by the women of the house. Merchant builders are finding that cedar closets can be included in homes at little or no additional cost and are a potent sales advantage.

Red Cedar Lining Gives Old Closet Fresh New Charm

Here's an engaging little home improvement project for fall or winter which the dyed-in-the-wool workshop fan or the weekend putterer will find highly satisfying: transform one of those old, dingy closets into a handsome cedar storage.

Such a project, providing moth-repellent storage for seasonal clothing and household woollens, is almost certain to make a big hit with the lady of the house.

Homemakers always have appreciated cedar closets not only for their utility but for their beauty and fragrance. Another consideration favoring the project is that an attractive cedar closet enhances the value of a home.

The job is relatively simple, for aromatic red cedar closet lining can be nailed to framing members, directly over old plaster or wall-board surfaces. Apply the lining to the floor and door, as well as to the walls and ceiling.

Pieces join snugly. The cedar is available at lumber yards in a choice of several widths from 2 to 4 inches and in lengths up to 8 feet. It is packaged in bundles, each of which contains enough pieces to cover at least 30 square feet. Every strip is tongued and grooved for snug, easy joining.

Before applying the cedar, remove all braces and hooks from the walls. Locate the position of studs and joists by use of a stud finder, by tapping or by punching small holes in the surfaces. Chances are you'll find the framing is spaced 16 inches from center to center.

Beginning at the bottom of a wall, apply the lining horizontally. Fasten each piece at every bearing point with a four-penny nail. Drive each nail slightly below the surface of the wood with a nail set. It is not necessary to make end joints occur over bearing points.

No Mitering Necessary. Corner molding of cedar is available, but its use is optional. If omitted, measure strip lengths carefully to assure tight fitting at inside corners. At outside corners the pieces can be sawed off evenly after application. Don't bother mitering the outside corners unless you're a super perfectionist. The easy workability of cedar permits smooth sanding of the edges.

To make the closet more airtight, it may be advisable to weatherstrip the door.

You never saw anything like it. With SelectTemp you have a compact heating unit, with its own individual thermostat, in every room, including bathrooms. The same low-pressure steam which carries heat to each unit operates a steam turbine driven fan which quietly circulates filtered warm air. Circulation is constant, not "on-and-off." No electric wiring is required for thermostat or fan.

Think of the comfort of having every room kept at just the temperature the occupants prefer. Cost? Very reasonable. Little more—or no more—than for many heating systems with only one thermostat in the whole house. Ideal for modernization and for new construction.

Students Elect Class Officers

Melvin Ott was elected president of the Manistique High School Student association Thursday, when students also balloted for class officers.

Other student association officers elected were Katherine Hall, vice president; Elaine Soligny, secretary; Roseann Reno, girls' representative; and Carl Maynard, boys' representative.

Class officers elected are as follows:

Seniors

President, Joe Nelson; vice-president, Robert Corson; secretary, Nancy Winsor; treasurer, Mary Giovannini.

Class advisors, Miss Tufte, Mr. Giovannini.

Juniors

President, Dan LaFave; vice-president, Ruth Guidebeck; secretary, Pat Vezina; treasurer, Ed Bernier.

Class advisors, Miss Tufte, Mr. Giovannini.

Sophomores

President, Terry Stoken; vice-president, Myrna Peterson; secretary, Elaine Carlson; treasurer, Gayle Carlson.

Class advisors, Miss Robinson, and Mr. Reque.

Freshmen

President, Bill McGlynn; vice-president, Vonda Faulkner; secretary, Janet Olson; treasurer, Francis Bernier.

Class advisors, Miss Bentjen, and Mr. Fredrickson.

Students voted heavily in the school elections, with freshmen leading the way with a 95.4 per cent voter turnout. Ninety-two per cent of the sophomores, 84.2 per cent of the juniors and 90.6 per cent of the seniors cast ballots.

School officials point out that there was no campaigning for the student elections and that balloting was optional. By way of contrast, less than half of the adult voters cast ballots in the last national election, school officials noted.

Halloween Party Is Held Here By Harvesters

A musical program arranged by Thor Reque was presented at the first fall meeting of the Harvesters' club Thursday night in the American Legion club rooms on Walnut St.

A good attendance was reported for the meeting and several attended in costume. The organization provides social and recreational activity for persons past middle-age.

Alex Creighton and his daughter, Sally, played a guitar and violin duet and William Sheahan, of the MHS speech department, gave a humorous reading.

After games, lunch was served from a table decorated with pumpkins and autumn leaves. Mrs. Franklyn T. Burgess was chairman of the refreshment committee.

MRS. ANNA BROWN

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Brown, who died Tuesday in Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, were held at 2 p. m. Friday from Newton Township hall, Gould City with the Rev. Alan S. Miller, pastor of the Manistique Presbyterian Church, officiating.

During services Mrs. Julius Settergren sang "Rock of Ages" and "God Will Take Care of Thee" with Mrs. Robert Hollsted as accompanist.

Pallbearers were Angus McDonald, Orin Baker, Dewey Brawley, Frank Cook, Howard Hewitt and John McCallum. Burial was in Newton Township Cemetery.

Halloween Fun Must Be Kept In Harmless Stage

Harmless Halloween pranks are all right, but parents of children who damage property during the "spooks and goblins" fun tonight will be held responsible. Police Chief Roy Anderson pointed out today.

Junior High School students here will be having a Halloween party tonight at Lincoln school.

Students in the Senior High School held theirs Friday night.

Lincoln School Is Champion In Touch Football

Lincoln school copped the championship in grade school touch football play by defeating Lakeside 12-0 Thursday night.

The victory gave Lincoln a 6-0 win record. Lakeside and St. Francis finished with records of two wins against two losses; Central had three wins and three losses, and Riverside lost all six games.

Lowell Copper, Lowell Ellsworth and Ralph Deloria were in charge. Referee was Richard Carlson.

Drunk Driver Jailed Here

Edwin Nelson, 64, of Manistique, pleaded guilty in justice court Friday to a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

He was assessed a fine of $50 and costs of $4 and ordered to serve five days in jail. Alternative in the sentence by Justice E. J. Doyle was 30 days in jail.

Nelson was arrested by state police Thursday night on US-2, near the east city limits. He was not involved in an accident.

Good Voter Turnout Is Predicted Here Tuesday

A better than average off-year election vote is expected in Schoolcraft county Tuesday when voters ballot for county officers, a governor, state administrative officials and state and national legislators.

Issues in the county have been pinpointed by extensive campaigning of incumbent Republican officials, who this year are opposed by a full slate of Democratic candidates. A major point in the opposition's campaign here has been the length of time present officials have held office.

The campaign has brought to the county numerous state and national officials and candidates. On the Republican side these have included U. S. Sen. Homer Ferguson, Rep. Victor A. Knox, Aud. Gen. John B. Martin, State Sen. William Ellsworth, and U. S. Sen. Charles E. Potter.

Four Referendums

The Democrats' campaign was highlighted by a visit by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Patrick V. McNamara, candidate for U. S. Senator; Harold Beaton, candidate for the post of 11th District Congressman; Edward M. Gibbs, candidate for state senator in the 30th district and Gilbert L. Wales, candidate for state representative from the Iron district. James M. Tare, Democratic candidate for secretary of state, also visited here.

Schoolcraft county voters will ballot with Baraga, Iron and Alger counties for the first time this year to pick a state representative from the Iron District, formed in the recent re-appointment by the state legislature.

Voters also will ballot on four referendums. The proposals listed on a separate ballot, would (1) Permit a voter to cast a ballot in his last place of residence if he moved within the state in the 30 days preceding an election (2) amend the state sales tax distribution formula under the Conklin plan; (3) authorize the state to borrow $80 million to pay bonuses to Korean veterans; and (4) amend the constitution to permit operation of lotteries by non-profit charitable organizations.

The county candidates are as follows:

COUNTY CANDIDATES
Prosecuting Attorney
William J. Sheahan, incumbent Republican seeking re-election. Married and the father of five children, he holds a bachelor of laws degree and has served on state commissions and as special assistant attorney general. He is a member of the Rotary Club, Knights of Columbus and Elks Lodge, and has served as president of the Prosecuting Attorneys' Association of Michigan and the U. P. Association of Law Enforcement Officers.

Gottfried S. Johnson—Former county prosecuting attorney (1917-18) seeking election on the Democratic ticket.

Sheriff
John W. Anderson—Republican candidate for the post has three years experience with the Manistique police department. A graduate of Manistique High School, he is married, has three children and is a car salesman. In 1941 he was commander of the Civil Defense Corps and in 1946 established John's Market here.

Lloyd E. Gray—Democratic candidate has been on the staff of the Manistique police department seven and a half years. He trained at the Detroit Police Academy following 37 months service in World War II. Gray is a graduate of Cooks High School, and a member of the American Legion and VFW, and the Knights of Columbus. He also is an associate member of the National Sheriff's Association. He formerly worked for the M & L S and the Soo Line railroads.

County Clerk
G. Leslie Bouschor—Republican candidate who has had 28 years experience as clerk and register of deeds here. He attended both Manistique High School and Ferris Institute, is married, and has two children.

Walter Burns—Democratic candidate served three terms as city councilman here, was mayor for four years, and chairman of the county board of supervisors for one year. Prior to coming to Schoolcraft county 26 years ago, he served as a justice of the peace in Mackinac county for eight years.

County Treasurer
Laura A. Williams—Republican candidate seeking re-election, has been treasurer of the county since 1923. A graduate of Manistique High School, she has lived here since childhood. Prior to becoming treasurer, she was a bookkeeper for the former Goodwillie Box Company and was in charge of the insurance department at the old Manistique Bank.

Lilah Wilson—Democratic candidate is a teacher at Cooks School and is president of the Schoolcraft County PTA Council, district director of the State PTA board, camp chairman and vice chairman for the Camp Timbertrail association, and serves on the gerontology committee of the Woman's Club here. She formerly conducted a private school for mentally retarded children in Traverse City, and was chief operator and bookkeeper at the Leslie Home Telephone Company for four years. She specialized in rural school supervision at Ypsilanti Normal College.

Drain Commissioner
John Bellaire—Republican candidate; and John Hess, Democratic.

Coroner
Robert W. Broullire and Edward V. Jackson, Republicans, are unopposed.

Surveyor
Carl Christensen—Republican; William McKenzie, Democrat.

For State Representative
The candidates for state representative in the Iron District are Who's Responsible?

A man who owns a house doesn't entrust its care to another unless he is certain he can rely on him. Ultimately the profit or loss comes back to the owner, so his decision carries the weight.
In the same way, voters of the nation have a responsibility to see that their government is entrusted to good public servants. Here too, the profits or losses, the good and the bad, ultimately affect the voters most.
Be sure to cast your vote in the election Tuesday. It is your privilege, and your duty.

Carl G. Lindquist of Iron River, Republican; and Gilbert L. Wales of Stambaugh, Democrat.

Lindquist is a farmer and also works for the Iron County Tax association. A former township supervisor and clerk, and former school board member, he has been in the state legislature for 14 years. Lindquist serves on the Ways and Means committee, and also on a special committee of the legislature on audit and appropriations. He is 57.

Wales, who is 32, is a city commissioner in Stambaugh, serving a 4-year term to which he was elected in 1952. The Democratic candidate is a miner in the Wausau mine of the M. A. Hanna Company and has 13 years seniority. He appeared twice before the House State Affairs committee on mine safety, in 1952 and in 1954; and is a veteran of 35 months overseas service in the South Pacific in World War II.

Both candidates are high school graduates and are married. Wales has three children.

Prosperity Without War Is Possible, Potter Says

A great increase has occurred in the standard of living and, economically, the American people are on the verge of another 1922," U.S. Sen. Charles E. Potter of Cheboygan declared here Thursday night in a courtesie speech bolstering the candidacies of Michigan Republicans.

The senator flew here from Flint, where he attended a meeting of the Rivers and Harbors committee, and left Friday morning by private plane to meet President Eisenhower in Detroit.

Potter noted that "voters were mad in 1952 because of the mess in Washington, killing in Korea and inflation," and declared that, in return for their vote in 1952, voters now have "no American boys dying on battlefields, have had a $7 billion tax cut following a $20 billion budget cut, and have had an increase in the standard of living."

He predicted that the nation will reach a peak of prosperity in coming years, and pleaded with voters to return a Republican Congress so that President Eisenhower can build on the "political and economic basis which has been laid for peace without war."

The Indo-China Trouble

If a Democratic Congress is elected, the opposition will "mail the president's hide to the wall," the senator asserted, adding that it will mean control by left-wing Democrats. "You haven't seen anything of high taxes, and government controls," Potter warned, stating voters would be fooled if they expect peace and prosperity with left-wing leaders.

The present period, economically, cannot be compared with 1952, because there was a war then, the senator argued. He added that prosperity without war, and peace without appeasement, are possible.

A firm and resolute foreign policy has increased world respect for the United States, Potter stated, and the absence of "shuffles" and "double-takes" in Washington has increased the integrity of American government, so that it also endangers respect from its citizens.

Though the Republican party has been accused of failing in Indo-China, the fact is that the administration did not want to be pulled into a war which would put Americans fighting in a jungle, on the enemy's timetable, geography and with their methods of warfare, the senator explained.

Credit For Bridge

"Diplomacy of character" has been substituted for "dollar diplomacy," he emphasized. The senator pointed out that within six weeks after EDC was settled by France, the plan for German rearmament was proposed, and that the Communist regime in Guatemala has been defeated, thus eliminating a threat to the Panama Canal Zone, through infiltration in Latin American countries.

In reviewing the state campaign, Sen. Potter observed that it was "hard to combat demagoguery with fact" and charged that Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who is seeking re-election, has made "numerous misstatements of fact, and is claiming credit for everything good."

"I'm a little sick and tired of the boy with the bow tie coming up here and pointing to the bridge at Mackinac as 'My Bridge,'" Potter declared. The people of the area deserve credit for that accomplishment, the senator said.

During the past six years, state government has been in a "constant state of chaos" because the governor is of one party and the legislature and state administrative board of another, Potter said. "The job calls for teamwork which will give Michigan a cohesive program providing more services at lower cost," he stated.

The speaker also praised the Eisenhower administration for routing out Communists in government. "We are likely to have Communists in government because it is a place where infiltration has great advantages, but we have to get them out as soon as they are spotted," Potter emphasized.

phasized.

He said that the Department of Justice has convicted over 50 under the Smith act, and that security risks had been dismissed. Sometimes, the senator said, these were persons who were risks because they drank excessively, were subject to blackmail or were in close contact with Communists.

The speaker concluded by saying he was not afraid of Communism and that the FBI now is in command of the situation. "They (the Communists) are treacherous, but their philosophy can not persist because it is founded on atheism," he pointed out.

Following his speech, to about 125, Sen. Potter visited the National Guard armory here while Company D stood federal inspection.

also the dairy leader.

James Niemela did not receive any credit for dairy work because his calf got sick before the Fair and he was unable to exhibit it.

The following are the new officers elected to serve for the coming year:

President, Helen Hallinen; vice president, Joyce Hill; secretary, Linnea Johnson; treasurer, James Niemel; reporter, Joyce Aalto; recreation leaders, Celia Aalto and Barbara Strand.

Report On Trip

Enrollment for new projects include: clothing, wild life, gun safety, electrical, trapping, food preparation and milk testing.

Rickie Mikkila enrolled as a new member.

Joyce Aalto gave a report on her trip to Ithaca, N. Y. this fall. She spoke mainly of the glass works and the dairy barns they visited along the way in addition to other points of interest.

All the parents were present during this "parent's night" 4-H club meeting. Pot luck lunch was served to members and parents after the meeting.

The next regular meeting will be held at the Ewing Township Hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 10th.

Enforced Exercise Aid To Safety

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Residents of this Centre County community wondered why hosts of strangers were parading around the town.

They found out from the police force. In a move to cut traffic accidents, the police set up a car-stopping program.

Any driver found who has been driving more than four or five hours must get out of his car and walk around the block. The measure is intended to shake off driving fatigue.

Powerful Miami Hurricanes Blast Hapless Fordham Rams By 75-7

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

This Miami football team of Coach Andy Gustafson is all fired up with no place to go.

The NCAA's recent disciplinary order against the Florida school, banning post-season competition, puts a pretty sturdy roadblock between Miami and a bowl bid. And the way the Hurricanes are going, it looks like that order may be the only device capable of stopping Miami this season.

Miami, a newcomer at the No. 10 spot in this week's Associated Press poll after defeating Maryland, exploded in all directions for its sixth victory of the season Friday night, humiliating Fordham's Rams 75-7.

Rams Lost Two Yards
The Hurricanes weren't completely wrapped up in offense, however. Miami's defense rocked the Rams for a minus 2 yards rushing.

In other Friday action Marquette defeated Detroit 14-13, the Citadel upset Wofford's six-game winning streak 14-13, Richmond knocked off George Washington 7-0 and Denver defeated New Mexico 19-6.

With Miami safely home,

it's up to Ohio State, Oklahoma, UCLA and the rest of the top 10 to do as well today. Ohio's Buckeyes, the No. 1 team, look to have an easy opponent in Northwestern. An OSU victory coupled with a Michigan success against Indiana would bring the two Big Ten leaders another step closer to a title-Rose Bowl meeting Nov. 20.

Players Have Flu
Oklahoma, with quarterback Jim Harris and end Carl Allison, weakened by the flu, has a job on its hands with Colorado, a fellow Big Seven member that was looking to the No. 2 Sooners too soon last week and lost to Nebraska. Another big game in the Big Seven pairs Missouri and Nebraska, both hot on the Orange Bowl trail since Oklahoma is ineligible.

UCLA, No. 3, has a not-so-easy opponent in California, since the Bears still have a Rose Bowl trip in mind.

Southern California, the other coast bowl hopeful, plays Oregon State.

The No. 4 team, Arkansas, runs into Texas A & M in search of its sixth straight victory.

Seek Fifth Win
Army, No. 5, tries for victory No. 5 since its pening defeat to South Carolina and ought to find it against Virginia. The other service team, Navy, squares off against Notre Dame, the No. 6 team.

West Virginia's unbeaten Mountaineers, listed No. 7 have what may be the toughest job in the top 10. They face up-and-coming Pittsburgh. Eighth-ranked Wisconsin plays Iowa and Purdue, No. 9, hits Illinois.

Other games include: MIDWEST: Drake at Iowa State, Michigan State at Minnesota, Oklahoma A & M at Tulsa, Houston at Wichita.

U.S. And Brazil Still Unbeaten

RIO DE JANEIRO (P) — The United States and Brazil were the only unbeaten teams today in the World Basketball Tournament.

The Peoria (Ill.) Caterpillars, representing the U.S., and Brazil both won their third straight in the round-robin final round Friday. The Caterpillars subdued a stubborn Uruguay team whose fast-breaking tactics surprised the Americans. Peoria, leading at half-time, 30-26, withstood a final period surge by Uruguay to win 64-59. B. H. Born, former Kansas Luminary, topped the Caterpillars with 15 points.

Brazil whipped Canada 82-66 to hand the Canadians their first setback in the final round. Canada's record in the round-robin is 2-1. The Caterpillars hope to continue their winning ways today at the expense of Canada and take over undisputed possession of first place in the standings. Each victory counts two points and the U.S. can move two points in front of Brazil, which is idle today.

The Philippines, which beat China 48-38 Friday, meets Israel and China plays France.

Pro Grid Race Could Become Even Tighter

By LEE LINDER
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nip-and-tuck National Football League race, in both divisions, could become even tighter this weekend as 9 of the 12 clubs try to strengthen their positions at the halfway mark in this torrid campaign.

There's a three-way tie for top spot in the Eastern division, with Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New York sporting identical 4-1 records. Within striking distance, and not counted out, is the defending division champ, Cleveland (2-2).

In the Western division San Francisco is undefeated (4-0-1), but right behind are Detroit (3-1), Los Angeles (2-2-1) and the Chicago Bears and Green Bay, both with 2-3.

Out of Picture
The Chicago Cardinals, Washington Redskins and Baltimore Colts are considered out of the title picture, with Baltimore owning the only win among the three.

Tonight Philadelphia, still hurtling from its 17-7 loss last Saturday to the Pittsburgh Steelers, hopes to start a new winning streak against the Green Bay Packers at Connie Mack Stadium in Philadelphia.

But the Packers, after losing 3 straight, came back to walloper the Los Angeles Rams and then defeat the Colts and a win would give them a slim hope in the Western division battle.

The other 10 clubs play Sunday: Baltimore at Washington, Chicago Bears at San Francisco, Detroit at Los Angeles, New York at Cleveland and Pittsburgh at Chicago Cardinals.

Eskymo Bees Beat Gladstone By 25-0

The Escanaba Eskymo Bee team capped a highly successful season here yesterday afternoon by trimming the Gladstone reserves 25-0 at the EHS gridiron.

Coach Frank Miketina's Eskymo Bees scored all four of their touchdowns in the first half of the game.

Conley Decides To Quit Pro Basketball

BOSTON (P) — Gene Conley, the 23-year-old Milwaukee Braves pitcher, has decided to quit professional basketball in order to devote full time to his promising baseball career.

A month after he turned out with the Boston Celtics and only the day before the Celtics opened their National Basketball Assn. schedule at Rochester, Conley announced his decision at a news conference Friday.

The 6 foot 8 inch former Washington State student who returned from service to post a 14-8 pitching record in his big league freshman season, said he made up his mind on his own.

Greenwood Stars As Holy Name Blasts Eagles 53-13

Wild horses couldn't have stopped the Holy Name Crusaders last night as fullback Jim Greenwood & Co. roared over Stephenson 53-13 on frigid turf at Memorial Field in the 1954 finale for both teams.

Greenwood, senior captain of the Holy Name team, capped an enthusiastic homecoming program by smashing the Upper Peninsula season scoring record. He flashed his heels at Stephenson for six running touchdowns, passed to crippled Billy Lancour for two more and scored an extra point. His 37-point scoring total is the best in the Peninsula for one game and raised his year's output to 80.

The Holy Name Express ripped Stephenson's defenses to shreds, rambling for 327 yards on the ground and 231 through the air for a net yardage of 558 for the night.

Potent Ball Carriers

Greenwood led the rushing attack with 183 yards on 14 carries, an average of 13 per trip. Lancour handled the ball 11 times and scooted for 109 yards.

Lancour, operating on an injured ankle, ran wild on the receiving end of passes from Greenwood and John Berrigan. The Holy Name left halfback caught five passes that produced 150 yards, in addition to a 92-yard pass-dash for a touchdown that was called back to midfield on a clipping call. Lancour's two touchdowns and an extra point boosted his scoring total for the season to 90 points.

Big Jim Strohl was the bright spot in an otherwise dull Stephenson performance. The hard-running halfback picked up 89 yards rushing in 12 carries and scored one of the Stephenson touchdowns on a 45-yard pass play from Jerry Martin.

Villeneuve Is Star

Junior tackle Leroy Villeneuve again spearheaded the Holy Name line. Villeneuve continually outfoxed Stephenson running plays to smear backs for costly losses. The out-weighted Holy Name line had all the best of it in the rough inside play.

Greenwood opened his bag of scoring tricks early in the game and proceeded to score two touchdowns a period for Holy Name. His first score came shortly after Stephenson hand punted after taking the opening kickoff.

Lancour set up the TD by moving the ball 42 yards on a pass from Berrigan. Greenwood slammed into the middle of the line, was stopped momentarily, shook himself loose and charged 14 yards for the TD to make it 6-0.

Stephenson came right back with a touchdown on a 58-yard pass play from Martin to Spencer Bichel to tie the count, 6-6.

Again Lancour set up Greenwood's payoff slant by scampering 40 yards to the Stephenson 15. Two plays later Greenwood shot through for 11 yards and the score to make it 12-6.

Stop Stephenson Threat

Holy Name staved off a Stephenson threat early in the second period and took over on their own. Lancour moved the ball out to the 13 and Greenwood shot through the middle of the line, offered a vanishing leg to the Stephenson secondary and raced 87 yards to score. Berrigan's keep for the point made it 19-6.

Lancour moved the ball over midfield on a 20-yard sprint and then took a pass from Greenwood and swivel-hipped 32 yards for the fourth Holy Name TD. Greenwood plunged for the point to spread the margin to 26-6.

Martin's pass for a touchdown to Strohl opened scoring in the second half but Holy Name marched the following kickoff right back to the goal line. Lancour's 21-yard dash set up the scoring play on which Berrigan passed to Joe Juetten who lateralled to Greenwood, the play covering 26 yards. Lancour

Martin's pass for a touchdown to Strohl opened scoring in the second half but Holy Name marched the following kickoff right back to the goal line. Lancour's 21-yard dash set up the scoring play on which Berrigan passed to Joe Juetten who lateralled to Greenwood, the play covering 26 yards. Lancour then took a pass from Greenwood and swivel-hipped 32 yards for the fourth Holy Name TD. Greenwood plunged for the point to spread the margin to 26-6.

Stefansson's Arctic Becomes Vital Reality

WASHINGTON—Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the "Prophet of the North," startled the early 20th century by heralding the Arctic as a self-sustaining region friendly to man. Now at 75 he sees his predictions approach reality.

Stefansson was born of Icelandic stock in Arnes, Manitoba, Canada, on November 3, 1879. From his youth he maintained close ties with the United States, as a college student in North Dakota, Iowa and at Harvard University, as a resident of New York City and New England, and as a lecturer.

He now lives in Hanover, N. H., seat of Dartmouth College which acquired his 50,000 volume library in 1953. He is assisting Dartmouth in its program of northern studies and is writing an autobiography.

On January 10, 1919, the National Geographic Society awarded Dr. Stefansson the Hubbard Medal for his discoveries in northern Canada. On that occasion he was introduced by two other famed Arctic explorers, Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, and Major General A. W. Greely.

"Last of Old School" said Admiral Peary then, "is perhaps the last of the school of Arctic explorers, the worker with the dog and the sledge, among whom he easily holds a place in the first rank." Stefansson, Peary declared, mixed intelligence, persistence and will power with the Eskimo's skill to develop a self-supporting way of life in the far north.

As interpreter of the "friendly Arctic," Stefansson had set about to eradicate unfounded notions, principally that all Arctic lands are unproductive and forever ice-bound. He pointed to the polar skies as potential air lanes between northern Europe, North America and Asia.

A few decades after he broached these ideas, industry marched northward for raw materials. Only months ago a 357-mile railroad carried its first load of iron ore from the remote Ungava deposits on the Quebec-Labrador boundary. To the west, prospectors are today feverishly scanning the border between Saskatchewan and the Northwest Territories for uranium.

Farther north, Canada and the United States are planning a huge radar warning system to guard the continent's vital heartland from sudden attack. The United States Air Force now regularly flies weather planes over the North Pole itself. Twelve days after Dr. Stefansson's birthday an international air line will open twice-weekly service between Los Angeles and Copenhagen via northern Greenland.

Hazardous Trip
In the spring of 1914 Stefansson and two companions trudged 600 miles from Alaska over the moving pack ice of the Beaufort Sea. Equipped with one sledge, six dogs and food for only 40 days, they worked northeast from floe to floe, sometimes against contrary currents. Mostly they lived off seals they were able to kill, until—after 96 days—they reached land near Banks Island. By the outside world they had been given up for dead. Instead, an old theory died; that no life existed on the polar seas.

In later expeditions Stefansson discovered Brock and Borden Islands. By 1917 he had explored more than 100,000 square miles and traveled 20,000 miles by sled and dog team alone, often through none-too-friendly pools of melted snow.

"The dogs had to swim and the sledge floated after them," Stefansson related. "We had in the bottom of the sledge two or three empty tin cans which acted as buoys, and the men walked with the sledge to keep it from capsizing while I waded ahead. This is much more unpleasant work than sledging at 50 below zero."

Too Many Keys To Escape-Proof Jail

PORT HURON, Mich. (P)—After St. Clair County built a new escape-proof jail, Sheriff Ferris E. Lucas refused to accept the keys.

Lucas is insisting new locks must be installed. He says master keys to the building were distributed too freely to custodians, workmen and others who helped build the new jail.

OIL PRODUCERS

Dallas—More than one-half of the oil wells drilled in the U. S. are still producing.

Capitol Quotes

The Power of Words

"One letter (writer) states that he heard me speak and that I am no great shakes as an orator. With that appraisal I am in complete agreement. Imagine a House of Representatives composed entirely of orators. I shudder at the picture."—Rep. William J. Green Jr. (D Pa.), June 7 newsletter.

Social Security Prayer

"A prayer goes up from the heart and soul of every honest Congressman that a Social Security system once adopted will serve well the deserving people, will not merely be another means of taxation, and that the system will not be used by any political party to win favor with voters."—Rep. John V. Beamer (R Ind.), June 9 press release.

Federal Aid For Whom?

"It is curious to see how business groups which demand subsidies for airlines, shipbuilders, shipping companies, magazine publishers and advertisers, wool-growers, silver mining companies, sugar refiners, tariffs of all kinds, guaranteed investments in real estate tax favors for the mineral industries, oil give-aways, etc., etc., hold up their hands in holy horror when the government tries to protect the farmer from sharp price decreases, or tries to clear a slum so that poor kids may have a more decent chance to grow up free from crime and disease! How hypocritical or unseeing can people get!"—Sen. Paul Douglas (D Ill.), June 5 speech, Harvard, Ill.

Wars Do End

"Apropos of the noisome Army-McCarthy hearings we were all reminded most impressively early this month that civil wars do end, and that the leader who is scorned today may be praised tomorrow. There were extensive ceremonies in the nation's Capital to commemorate the birthday of Jefferson Davis, the President of the Confederate States of America and not a voice was raised in protest, not a shot fired. It leads me to hope and believe that the Army-McCarthy hearings also will pass away."—Rep. Harold C. Ostertag (R N. Y.), June 17 press release.

ABOUT ASTEROIDS

Asteroids are small planetary bodies between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter, revolving about the sun. The first asteroid was discovered by Piazzi in 1801. The number known at the present time is about 900.

Snow Covers Wide U.P. Area

Escanaba had its first real touch of winter early last evening. Light rain turned to snow and the ground was lightly dusted with white in the early hours of the morning.

Local temperatures reached a high of 43 early yesterday afternoon and with the coming of the snow dropped to 28 about dawn this morning. More snow is indicated, says S. E. Decker of the Escanaba weather bureau, but the amount is not likely to more than cover the ground. Today's high will hover around 37 and before morning should sink to a low of 24. It should warm up slightly over the weekend.

Snow was general throughout Upper Michigan and Northern Wisconsin. Houghton reports 4 inches, Marquette an inch and a police radio report early this morning tells of about 6 inches of snow in the copper country. Forestry men operating in the vicinity of Ewen report 7 inches and Watersmeet had two inches early yesterday afternoon. Snow is reported drifting badly in many places.

Temperatures elsewhere were also low during the night. Houghton had 24, Sault Ste. Marie 27, Green Bay 26.

This cold and snowy wave is reported as far south as Little Rock, Ark., and Louisville, Ky.

Sheppard Case May Be Mistrial

By WILLIAM L. NEWKIRK
CLEVELAND (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin began thumbing through his law books today to find out whether a clerk's slipup will wipe out nine days of painstaking questioning of jurors for the Sheppard murder trial.

The judge trying the case of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, the young osteopath accused of clubbing his pregnant wife to death, Friday was shoved face to face with a legal tangle that could cause a mistrial.

For nine days, attorneys laboriously questioned a panel of 69 prospective jurors in an effort to pick 12 who could give Sheppard a fair trial. On Thursday a jury of seven men and five women was sworn in.

Today there was a chance it had all been wasted.

A report that one of the 12 jurors had a criminal record brought up the possibility of a mistrial yesterday that would mean retrying the entire case, selection of a new jury and a delay that could stretch into weeks.

To Sheppard, it could mean a long postponement of the day he will finally be judged innocent or guilty of the crime that left his wife, Marilyn, bloody and lifeless on her bed last July 4.

The state claims he killed her after a clandestine love affair with auburn-haired Susan Hayes, 24-year-old former technician in the hospital where he practiced. Sheppard maintains she was killed by a bushy-haired man who invaded their home on the shore of

300 Girls Participate In Camp Fire Program

The Bay de Noc Camp Fire Girls have chosen a unique way to say thank you to the people of the community, Mrs. Edward C. Olsen, executive director, reports. They are one of the six organizations to share the funds raised by the Community Chest drive.

This year the Camp Fire Girls will receive a "token amount" of $200 of the Chest funds. This is approximately 10 per cent of the amount the organization has received in previous years.

"We feel there is no better way to say thank you to the community for all the assistance they have given in the past, not only in money but in participation, and all we hope is that they will continue to help in the future," said Mrs. Olsen. "The $200 will pay office expenses for the year and through economizing our balance will handle our other needs."

Organized In 1939

Camp Fire Girls was the first organization of its kind in the community. It began its program in the Bay de Noc area in 1939 when it was sponsored by the school system. Since that time the strength and success of the organization has risen and fallen by the barometer that measures adult participation and interest in the community and in youth of the community.

"We are happy to see that the forecast for participation this year looks very good," commented Mrs. Walter Dickson, regional representative of Camp Fire Girls and a long-time enthusiastic worker for the Bay de Noc Council.

There were 14 groups in the Bay de Noc area—four in Wells, four in Rapid River and six in Escanaba. With the present campaign underway it is expected four to eight more groups will be started. The present groups serve some 300 girls.

"Camp Fire exists very simply," commented Mrs. Olsen, "because as the girls learn to live up to their Camp Fire law in their daily lives, they carry out their projects in the home, the out-of-doors and in the community, they find that somehow what they do together is better than what they could have done alone."

System Of Honors

Through the system of honors which is such an important part of Camp Fire, the girl earns satisfaction for a job well done and through group activities, a sense of sharing.

The Camp Fire program in the past year has included participation in the Help Korea project, carried out by packing cigar boxes with items needed by the children of Korea, decorating them, incorporating in the decoration a greeting in Korean, and finally shipping them to Chicago to join the trains moving across the country to San Francisco carrying contributions from many organizations throughout the country. They were all anonymous gifts. The caroling at institutions during the Christmas season has for some time been a favorite activity of the Horizon Club girls. The candy sale this year, the first for several years, was highly successful and even included the little members of the program, the Blue Birds. The Camp Fire Girls, those from eight to 14, found the candy sale an excellent way to earn money for their camping session this year.

The girls have been invited for a number of years to attend the sessions managed by the Chippewa County Council at Clear Lake Camp, the forest service camp which Camp Fire Girls have been fortunate to be allowed to use for several years. This camping session is considered to be an important part of the program, and one fourth of the fee required of each girl attending has always been paid by the council out of Community Chest funds.

The leader training program, so important this year with a number of new leaders is being conducted by volunteers, council members who have been with Camp Fire a long time, with the exception of the opening sessions which were conducted by Miss Margaret Hazard, Regional Supervisor for Region Eight. Miss Hazard, who is well qualified and experienced, probably will conduct two such training courses throughout the year. During her recent visit here Miss Hazard consulted with committees and board members as well as with leaders. The regional supervisor is partially maintained by the local council from Chest funds.

As a community service project this year members of the Camp Fire Girls will ring the phones of the community on Nov. 2 reminding persons to vote.

Education Board
The Meyer Township Board of Education will meet Monday, Nov. 1, at 7 p. m., instead of Tuesday, due to the general election. They have approved the recommendation of Supt. Arne Johnson to co-operate in a state wide program to further the consumption of milk in the schools. For the present, all children in the Hermansville school who request it will be furnished the milk free of charge.

Legion Meet

The Leo Floriano Legion Post met in the Legion club rooms Thursday evening, and Commander Cliff Gustafson announced the Legion aid Auxiliary net profits on their card party will exceed sixty dollars. The Post will join the Auxiliary to celebrate Veterans Day with a joint banquet at the Community Club November 11. The speaker will be announced later.

Hermsville
HERMANVILLE—The Junior High School is sponsoring a spaghetti supper to be held at the club Sunday, Nov. 21, from 4 to 8 p. m. Students are selling tickets, and the proceeds will be used for class activities.

Traffic Deaths Drop
LANSING (AP)—The downward trend in Michigan traffic deaths continued through September, state police said in their monthly report today. There were 164 traffic fatalities during the month, the report said, compared with 186 during September, 1953—a decrease of 12 per cent. The report said the number of injuries and accidents also decreased.

Danny, who spent the summer months at the Edward Gibbs residence have moved to San Francisco, Calif.

THOSE IN UNIFORM

Donald D. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kal D. Johnson of 321 S. 11th St., Escanaba, was among the Marines who reported to the Marine Corps Air Station at Cherry Point, N. C., for duty with the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing. Before entering the Marine Corps in July 1953, he graduated from Escanaba High School.

Cpl. John Prokos, son of Mrs. George Prokos, 1225 6th Ave. S., was recently separated from the U. S. Army at Ft. Sheridan, Ill. He received his basic training at Camp Gordon, Ga., and attended radio school for seven months at Ft. Monmouth, N. J. The last 14 months of his two years in the service were spent at Pirmasens, Germany. While stationed in Germany, Prokos had the opportunity of traveling twice to fatherland of his mother and late father, Greece, where he met many relatives. He also visited London, Paris, Geneva, and Amsterdam.

Boy Who Fought For Dog Freed

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
WEST MONROE, La. (AP)—Ten-year-old Joe Cooper and the mongrel dog he rescued from the gas chamber with a loaded shotgun headed for a new life today under the protective wing of a former governor of Louisiana.

"Attaboy, Joe, we knew you could do it," his school chums shouted when City Judge Howell Heard announced the boy would be released from the reform school and put in the custody of a married half-sister, Mrs. Ray Foy.

The decision came Friday night after former Gov. James A. Noe, a stalwart in the old Huey P. Long regime, made a surprise appearance at the juvenile court hearing and took up the boy's Lake Erie.

Noe agreed to head a nationwide fund-raising drive to send the son of the impoverished widow to an exclusive boy's school in Tennessee and later to college.

"The dog will go, too, it's all arranged," Noe beamed as he

Ellsworth And Gibbs Reply To 3 Questions

Yesterday the Escanaba Daily Press published the answers of Einar Ellerslund, Democrat, and Harold Gustafson, Republican, to the three questions of public interest submitted to them by the League of Women Voters. Ellerslund and Gustafson are opposing candidates for state representative.

The three questions follow:

1. What responsibility does the state have to meet present and future problems of mental health in Michigan?

2. In your opinion, is there any need for change in local-state financial relations? If you have any specific recommendations, please give them.

3. Is there any other area of legislation in which you are particularly interested.

The candidates were advised to answer the questions in 375 words or less.

Today the Press publishes the answers to the same question by William Ellsworth, Republican, and Edward Gibbs, Democrat. Ellsworth and Gibbs are opposing candidates for state senator.

EDWARD H. GIBBS Democrat

1.—Providing care for the mentally ill is a state responsibility. To carry it out properly intensive research should be conducted to provide early treatment; Expansion of child guidance clinics; An adequate force of trained personnel.

The State of Michigan has at the present time 16 child guidance clinics which should be expanded. Northville hospital should be completed as soon as possible.

2.—This area of local-state financial relations should be under continuous study. The Governor has a bi-partisan commission on inter-governmental relations now studying the entire tax structure.

This commission will report during the next session of the legislature. In addition the senate and house have joint interim committees studying this problem.

These reports will be given serious consideration by the local and state government.

3.—We should make provisions through our statutes so that our elders can live in the comfort and dignity to which they are entitled.

With the cost of living at the highest point in our history, these people need more consideration to bring them up to a standard which is more than a minimum.

Keep Campaign Going, President Advises Leonard

mock election among grade school children in the L'Anse school district showed Friday. The youngsters turned in Democratic margins on a full slate of candidates.

The poll gave Gov. Williams 92 votes to 42 for Leonard. Patrick V. McNamara, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator, got 81 votes while Republican Senator Homer Ferguson pulled in 50. Parents in the district usually vote Republican.

Ferguson and McNamara crossed campaign swords on Dave Garro-way's nation-wide television (NBC) show Friday.

Party Leaders Split On Issue Of 'Red Smear'

held back direct fire on the President, took issue with Eisenhower Friday night on the same point as Mitchell.

He told a Democratic rally at Great Neck, N.Y., that he has been characterized by Nixon as "a Communist propagandist." But this has not distressed him as much as Eisenhower's saying "he hadn't heard about" the Republican tactics, Stevenson said, and added:

"This afternoon, speaking in Cleveland, the President had recourse to the same technique."

Eisenhower said at Cleveland that when the Republicans took office in 1952 "we were tired of hearing the word 'Communist' everywhere it was mentioned being called a red herring." That was a reference to former President Truman's remark when he told a questioning reporter that Republicans were using congressional investigations of alleged subversive activities to distract attention from the Truman legislative program.

Mitchell also accused Eisenhower of adopting a campaign line of "fear" and of having "threatened the people to vote for his candidates—or else."

He said Eisenhower began the "fear" campaign with a Denver speech Oct. 8 "when he threatened the people with a 'cold war' if they elect a Democratic Congress."

"The next day," Mitchell said, "our Democratic leaders in the Congress, Sen. Lyndon Johnson and former Speaker Sam Rayburn, wired the President assuring him there would be no 'cold war' — because it takes two belligerents to make a war and the Democrats do not intend to conduct such a war."
